RUML ASSAILS VICIOUSNESS OF PAYING OLD TAX

Pay-as-You-Go to End Fear Asked.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—The house ways and means committee today heard warnings of serious financial problems and virtually impossible hardships in store for American wage earners unless congress acts at once to free them from income tax debt to the government.

Beardsley Ruml.

Beardsley Ruml, department store official and chairman of the New York Federal Reserve bank, told the committee that the mounting income tax burden has become a "national danger" and "there is no escaping the conclusion" that levies on 1942 income must either be dropped entirely or collection deferred.

Appearing as the No. 1 witness in support of his plan for placing wage earners on a pay-as-you-go tax paying basis, he proposed that congress speed consideration of the pending legislation so as to put collections on a current basis by April 1. His plan calls for suspending collections on 1942 income levies and the start of 1943 payments at once.

[A simple digest of various tax collection proposals is given in a story on page 23.]

"Remove Debt Threats."

"There are two broad purposes for reforming our historic income tax practice in order to place our income taxes on a current basis and to eliminate the accumulated income tax debt," he testified. "The first purpose relates to the financing of the war, to the reduction of potentially inflationary purchasing power, and to the preservation of the integrity of our income tax system thru obtaining the highest possible level of collections and the lowest possible level of defaults. The second purpose springs from the personal and humane desirability of removing from millions of citizens the constant threat of unpaid tax debt."

Treasury officials and committee members have emphasized that operation of a new tax collection plan before July 1 is unlikely and that all taxpayers must file their regular returns and pay at least the first quarterly tax installment by March 15. The committee told Ruml, who is heavy of build, tall and distinguished looking, that he has "a bigger following than Dr. Townsend" and urged him to emphasize this warning.

No Increase in Rates.

Combining the plan for current tax collections with a withholding tax starting at a base of 24 or 25 per cent on net taxable income has been suggested. This does not include a raise over present tax rates, scheduled to be taken up later when the committee begins work on legislation to produce the 16 billion dollars in new revenue asked by President Roosevelt.

Ruml's appearance before the committee came as a dramatic climax to his year long battle for pay-as-you-go taxes to replace the present system of tardy collections. Word that he was to testify brought a capacity crowd to the hearing.

Hearing at Times Hilarious.

Tax hearings, known for their complexness, ordinarily are shunned by the Capitol hill fans, but those who attended today's hearing found the testimony ranging from the dull to the hilarious and seemed to enjoy one as much as the other.

One outburst occurred when Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] sought to defend the Ruml plan from attacks of treasury witnesses who have argued vigorously against abating last year's taxes.

"Why, we only owe that money to ourselves," he said, quoting President Roosevelt's famed explanation of the mounting debt limit in the earlier years of the New Deal. "It's really no loss at all."

The session was enlivened by frequent and sharp interchanges between the witness and committee members objecting to the total wiping out of 1942 levies. Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] chal-

U. S. TO CONTROL LABOR HIRING IN CRITICAL AREAS

Priorities to Rule in Obtaining Help.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—Chairman Paul V. McNutt announced tonight that the war man power commission would take control of the hiring of labor in shortage areas, a step expected to freeze millions of persons to war industries or other tasks deemed essential.

Under the system, McNutt said, the man power commission or agencies approved by it will furnish workers to employers on a priority system based on the importance of the employer in the war effort. New barriers will be raised to prevent workers shifting from vital occupations to less essential ones, and limits will be placed on the authority of employers to fire workers assigned to them thru the man power commission.

The controls, it was announced, will go into effect "as soon as practicable in 32 regions which are scattered thruout the country and are classified as "critical labor shortage areas."

Three Exceptions Listed.

While provision was made for adjustment to local conditions, the McNutt order directed that no hiring be done in the shortage areas without WMC supervision and approval, except:

1. That done by small establishments, which "in general are defined as nonmanufacturing establishments employing less than 25 persons and manufacturing firms employing less than eight persons.

2. The hiring of domestic servants or "casual" [temporary] employés.

3. Hiring by state, county, or local governments, unless they "voluntarily request" that they be put under WMC regulations.

U. S. to Handle Hiring.

The principal hiring operations will be handled thru the United States employment service, but the order directed "maximum utilization" of "all existing hiring channels" which would operate under WMC policy regulations.

Specifically mentioned as such "channels" were private employers, labor organizations, professional organizations, schools, technical institutions, and government agencies.

The hiring agencies are directed to:

1. Refer workers to jobs which "will utilize their skills most effectively in the war effort."

2. "Accord priority to employers engaged in essential activities, in the order of the urgency of their activities . . ."

3. "Place workers in jobs on the basis of their qualifications" and "without discrimination as to race, color, creed, sex, national origin or, except as required by law, citizenship."

Firings are Restricted.

The order stipulated that persons "engaged or most recently engaged in essential activities can be employed only by an employer for work in another essential activity." Even then they can only be employed when released by the previous employer or a WMC representative.

On the other hand, it guaranteed that "insofar as it will not interfere with the effective prosecution of the war:"

1. "No worker shall be obliged to accept or continue in employment which is not suitable."

2. "No employer shall be obliged to retain in his employ a worker who is incompetent . . . or who fails to conform to reasonable shop rules or standards of conduct."

"This paragraph implied, officials said, that employers would be prevented from "arbitrarily" firing workers referred to them.

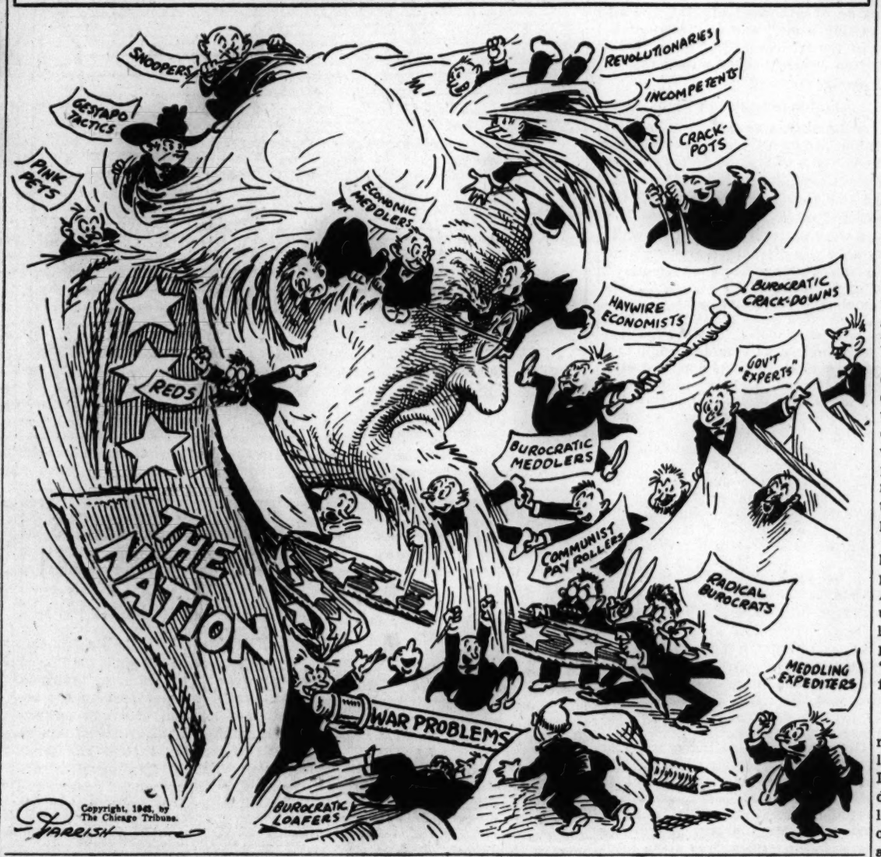
Areas Affected Listed.

McNutt today published a new list designating 32 cities as areas of critical labor shortage.

Bath, Me.; Beaumont, Tex.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Somerville, N. J., and Sterling, Ill., appeared as new additions, while Elizabeth City, N. C.; Newport, R. I., and Sturgeon Bay, Wis., which had been on the last list, were dropped.

Other cities listed were Akron and Dayton, O.; Baltimore and Elkton, Md.; Bridgeport, Hartford, New Britain, and Waterbury, Conn.; Brunswick and Macon, Ga.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Charleston, S. C.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Detroit, Mich.; Hampton Roads, Va.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Manitowoc, Wis.; Mobile, Ala.; Ogden, Utah; Panama City, Fla.; Pascagoula, Miss.; Portland, Ore.; San Diego, Cal.; Seattle, Wash.; Springfield, Mass.; Washington, D. C., and Wichita, Kas.

GREMLINS OF WASHINGTON



Hails Rubber from Wood as WarTimeBoon

Utilization of what has been a waste lumber product for manufacture of alcohol used in synthetic rubber production holds "tremendous possibilities" for a nation at war, L. J. Markwardt, a scientist of the United States forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., said last night.

[Nelson predicts priorities given synthetics plants will avert rubber crisis. Story on page 7.]

In addition to the product's war uses, recent studies prompt the hope that an entire new industry will be based on lignin, the waste product of pulp, logging, and sawmill operations, he told Chicago district members of the American Society for Testing Materials meeting at 205 West Wacker drive.

Million Tons Dumped.

"A million tons are dumped annually as waste pulping liquor," he said, "and more than 15 million tons are contained in the waste wood in logging and sawmill operations."

[The Ontario Paper company, subsidiary of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, has pioneered in the American development of alcohol from lignin, production in a new plant awaiting only the release of small quantities of critical materials.]

"Ever since pulp making was discovered," Markwardt said, "lignin has been considered the ugly duckling among wood components."

Sees Hope for "Swan."

Describing processes under which lignin was subjected to extreme pressure and heat to yield wood alcohol and four new chemical compounds, he said:

"The discovery prompts the hope that the ugly duckling will turn out to be a swan after all."

Markwardt, who heads the Madison laboratory's timber mechanics division, said that one of wood's valuable contributions to war production has been in construction as a result of development of laminated arches and metal connectors that made wide wood spans feasible just before the war.

WAR NOT WON YET, NAZIS TELL NORWAY PAPERS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 4 (AP).—The newest secret instructions by the Nazis to the Norwegian press, which undoubtedly also have been issued to German newspapers, order editors "not to write as if it is already certain that Germany is going to win the war," the Swedish-Norwegian news agency said tonight.

"Contrary to earlier orders," the instructions were quoted as saying, "German defeats and the seriousness of the situation must be emphasized. Until further notice there should be no unbalanced attacks against England."

NODERER OF TRIBUNE TO DESCRIBE PACIFIC WAR IN W-G-N TALKS

E. R. Noderer, noted CHICAGO TRIBUNE war correspondent who has covered the southwest Pacific campaigns since the outbreak of the war, will begin a series of exclusive broadcasts over W-G-N at 8:15 p. m. today. He will tell of the war situation in the Pacific from first hand knowledge. Noderer will be heard at 9:30 p. m. tomorrow and at 8:30 p. m. on Sunday and Monday. The texts of all his broadcasts will be printed in THE TRIBUNE.

Noderer most recently covered the jungle campaign in New Guinea, which resulted in the capture of Buna and Gona. Many of his dispatches were sent from the field and later from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia.

Before going to the Pacific war theater, Noderer served in several European countries after the outbreak of the war. He arrived in Chicago yesterday on leave from his war front duties. This is his first trip home in 21 months.

KELLY FIELD ENDS ROLE AS FAMOUS TRAINING CENTER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—Kelly field, San Antonio, Tex., has been transferred from the army air force flying training command to the air service command and thus loses at least temporarily its status as the nation's best known training field.

The war department said today that the field will be combined with Duncan field at the San Antonio air depot as a single unit under the depot's jurisdiction.

The San Antonio aviation cadet center, pre-flight school on land west of Kelly, will not be affected. The central instructors' school, now at Kelly, will be transferred, possibly to Randolph field, also at San Antonio.

Charges 'Work or Fight' Edict Upset Factory

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] rapped Man Power Chief Paul V. McNutt in the house today for creating havoc with the announcement that all married draft registrants must be in an essential job or face drafting into uniform by May 1.

Hoffman told the house that the confusion resulting from McNutt's announcement was strikingly illustrated by a telegram which the congressman received the next day from the Sturgis Posture Chair company of Sturgis, Mich.

Plant Operation Threatened.

"Please wire us today," it read, "stating manufacture of wood chairs for army, and navy steel chairs for shipboard use is considered essential to production. Such a message from you is imperative to keep our organization intact after yesterday's man power commission announcement.

"Many employés threatening to leave our employ altho practically every chair we make is for army, navy, coast guard, air corps, maritime commission and other important agencies. Thanks for your coöperation."

Omitted from Essential List.

Hoffman said that the man power commission with which he communicated later advised the company that furniture is not on the essential list and that there is little likelihood it will be soon.

"Apparently," Hoffman said, "what McNutt and this administration propose to do is knock the underpinning right out from under our civilian structure. Just how the administration expects to carry on the war by destroying the civilian industries which supply the armed forces is a puzzle to many of our citizens."

CHIANG COMING FOR SHOWDOWN WITH U. S.: ITALY

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 4 (AP).—Il Popolo D'Italia of Milan published an Ankara, Turkey, dispatch today reporting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was flying to the United States with his general headquarters officers and high Chinese functionaries.

The dispatch quoted Chiang's aides as saying he was going to Washington, D. C., to lay before President Roosevelt the terms on which China would continue in the war.

[The above dispatch published in an enemy country has had no confirmation from other sources and such suggestions concerning the Chinese have been denied by Chungking. Reuters news agency recorded a Rome broadcast last Monday saying that Chiang had left Chungking for Washington.]

Many Arrests Tell Story of India's Unrest

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 3—[Delayed].—For one month I have been trying to get information and light on what is undoubtedly the world's most gigantic headache—India. On its eastern border war simmers and flares, marked prominently by air activity and operations local in character in difficult terrain composed of hills, swamps, and jungle.

But what is going on inside the country is more important. It concerns the place and attitude which this huge country with its population of nearly 390,000,000 takes toward winning the war. There are plenty of problems related to the war, like the food shortage, transportation difficulties and high prices. But the primary problem appears to be political.

To get at the truth I turn to the heap of newspapers before me. A sample taken at random is headed "More Arrests and Convictions." Two columns in which I count 34 items relate to "incidents" or trials or legal procedure concerned with previous "incidents." On the inside pages I find four more such items.

Tells of "Independence Day."

This day's newspaper is unusually rich in such items and it contains belated reports on what occurred in India on the so-called "Independence day," Jan. 26. A later paper gives less such news and its daily column of "incidents" relates only 15. Still another paper has two full front page columns of such news. Considerable trouble is reported in a single column, for each item is told in skeletonized news agency style and usually takes only four to eight lines.

From the context it is not always clear that all these items relate to political matters. Here is one headed, "Bhagulpur Jail Mutiny Case." The story is that a judge, on reviewing the evidence against 48 accused persons, confirmed the sentences of death passed on three of them, acquitted two of the charge of murder and set aside their life sentences, while "sentences of the other accused were confirmed and in some cases reduced."

In this mutiny, two jail officers and one warden lost their lives, damage was done estimated at 200,000 rupees [$73,000], and "28 convicts died of bullet wounds, while 86 others sustained injuries."

Dozen Police Tried.

Did this riot involve political prisoners? Probably not. In most other cases it is clear, tho, that they are political. Taking them at hazard, I note a dozen police constables on trial for remaining absent from duty without permission. The political implications are not clear, but it is in the column devoted to such matters.

There is the bomb explosion in a movie house—presumably a political action as most such explosions here are.

Many others make curious reading. At Bombay, the Murari printing art works was searched, "about 1,000 posters containing alleged objectionable matters seized," and three arrests made. At Poona a secret press, "alleged to have been used to carry on

F.D.R. CONGRATULATES STALIN ON 'BRILLIANT' STALINGRAD VICTORY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight congratulated Premier Stalin of Russia on the "brilliant victory at Stalingrad" of the armies under his supreme command.

Mr. Roosevelt's message, addressed to His Excellency Josef V. Stalin, supreme commander of the armed forces of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, at Moscow, read:

"As commander in chief of the armed forces of the United States of America, I congratulate you on the brilliant victory at Stalingrad of the armies under your supreme command.

"The 162 days of epic battle for the city which has forever honored your name and the decisive result which all Americans are celebrating today will remain one of the proudest chapters in this war of the peoples united against Nazism and its emulators.

"The commanders and fighters of your armies at the front and the men and women who have supported them in factory and field have combined not only to cover with glory their country's arms but to inspire by their example fresh determination among all the united nations to bend every energy to bring about the final defeat and unconditional surrender of the common enemy."

REDS DRIVE TWO WEDGES TO CUT OFF 200,000 MEN

Commandos Attack Behind Germans.

LONDON, Feb. 5 [Friday]—(AP).—The Red army has cut off German troops in the western Caucasus from Rostov by two swift smashes toward the Sea of Azov, and have broken thru the first line of powerful new Nazi fortifications rimming Rostov, Moscow announced today in a midnight communique recorded by the Soviet radio monitor.

A special communique a few hours earlier had announced that the Red army had killed or captured 44,000 encircled axis troops in a week old continuing battle of annihilation west of Voronezh and had swept on to reach positions on three sides of Kursk, big Nazi 1941-'42 offensive base above the Ukraine in southern Russia.

The Russians sent two spearhead columns overrunning Staorminskaya and Kanevskaya in the western Caucasus. These towns, 32 miles apart, are both only 38 miles from the sea of Azov.

Split Nazi Armies.

Their seizure effectively split the Germans based in the Novorossisk-Krasnodar areas of the Caucasus—perhaps 200,000 men—from the Nazi pivot base of Rostov to the north. All main escape roads and railways leading to Rostov from the south now are in Russian hands.

These huge new axis reverses, coming only two days after the final slaughter or capture of 330,000 German, Rumanian and Croat troops at Stalingrad, were announced about the same time the Berlin radio acknowledged that soviet Commandos also had landed along the Black sea coast to attack their Caucasian forces in the rear and to forestall a Nazi "Dunkirk" escape on the Taman peninsula opposite the Crimea.

Berlin said the Red marines hitting the Germans from the rear had landed on the Taman peninsula above the Nazi held Black sea naval base of Novorossisk. The Taman peninsula is separated from the Crimea by the 7 mile wide Kerch strait which lies between the Black sea and the Sea of Azov.

Novorossisk itself apparently was imminently menaced, for the Berlin radio said the Russians concentrated their attacks against "the area of Novorossisk and north of it."

Storm Nazi Lines.

Krasnodar, Kuban provincial capital and the second major Caucasian city left to the enemy, also was being menaced by the Russians. It is 60 miles east of Novorossisk. The Russians last were reported closing in on the city from three sides, and one soviet column was only 30 miles away.

The reported landing came after yesterday's Moscow announcement that Red army land forces had taken Kuschevskaya, 43 miles below Rostov. This town is the northern junction of a railway leading south to Krasnodar, and its seizure cut off that avenue of escape for the Germans.

Other Russian units seizing Kagalnitskaya, 35 miles northeast of Kushchevskaya, were only 30 miles from Rostov in the steady envelopment of that big Nazi base.

Gain 100 Miles from Voronezh.

On the Voronezh front the Russians were threatening Kursk after nearly a 100-mile advance west of Voronezh. The Red army, rushing steadily over heavy snowfields, occupied Shchigry, only 33 miles east of Kursk. Southeast of Kursk they seized Tim, and on the north of the Nazi bastion they had taken Zolothukhino, only 22 miles away.

The Russian armies in the Ukraine already are within 63 miles of Kharkov after capturing the strategic rail junction of Kupyansk yesterday, and the fall of Voroshilovgrad is expected soon by many observers. This Donetz basin industrial center already had had one rail line connecting it to Kharkov severed at Krasny Liman, 75 miles to the northwest, and soviet units also are fighting only 10 miles east of it. The seizure of Krasny Liman by the Russians cut direct rail communications between Kharkov, Voroshilovgrad, and Rostov.

"Incidents" Range from Murder to Mutiny.

prejudicial propaganda," was discovered and five arrests made.

Among the other charges on which arrests were made, I note "possession of objectionable literature," "posting prejudicial leaflets," "holding an unauthorized meeting and addressing same," and an "attempt to hoist the tricolor flag of the national Indian congress and to read the independence pledge."

Editor Gets Prison Term.

At Bombay, a newspaper editor gets "nine months rigorous imprisonment" on a charge of "possession of several prejudicial leaflets." At Dhubri two men held "for hoisting the national congress flag" refused bail and were remanded to custody, while another was discharged after "giving an undertaking for good conduct" after his arrest "for possessing national congress bulletins."

More often these political activities have a more violent character. From four sample days I note 21 bomb and other explosions involving 3 deaths and 8 injured, 15 cases of arson, 4 for possessing unlicensed firearms, 5 attacks on postal runners, 7 assaults on the police—1 case of stabbing, 1 of throwing pop bottles, and 3 vaguely termed "sabotage activities."

The most impressive case of the last month was that of Hemu Kalani, 18 years old, a college student, who was tried under martial law for "attempting to remove fish plates from a railway track," sentenced to death, and hanged. Concerning him The People at War, Communist party organ, writes, "Appeals for mercy on Kalani's behalf were rejected."

Charges Not Given.

At the other extreme are arrests for which the charges are not specified, and the report from Broach of 20 persons arrested "under the defense of India rules."

Organizing and leading processions is a frequent cause for arrest. Eight prisoners were given 18 months in prison for shouting "congress and prejudicial slogans" while in police custody at Muzaffarpur, and at the same place a student was given three years rigorous imprisonment for "possession of prejudicial leaflets."

Again there is the case of one Manubhai Patel who is "detenu"—that is, held in custody—who was first arrested under the explosive substances act, then detained under rule 129 of the defense of India rules and subsequently under rule 23 of the defense of India rules.

Discontent Is Obvious.

From all the preceding, especially in view of the huge size and population of India, I am far from suggesting that, as the Communist organ puts it, "a deluge of repression is sweeping from one corner of the country to another and national morals are at their lowest."

But it is entirely evident that a certain number of people in India are highly displeased about something and their ways of expressing their displeasure are often emphatic in form and bring them into personal relations with the police.

ARMY CONTINUES BAN ON PARCELS TO YANKS ABROAD

Officials Say Only V-Mail Delivery Assured.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—With the volume of mail going to soldiers overseas steadily increasing and now averaging between 15 and 20 million letters a week, army postal service officials said today there is little chance that any of the restrictions placed on overseas mail on Jan. 15 can be lifted for some time.

Altho the use of V-mail has increased and now accounts for about 10 per cent of the letters going overseas, the army postal authorities said overseas mail still is requiring far too much shipping space—space that is critically needed for the transportation of food and munitions.

Repeat Restrictions.

The mailing restrictions that became effective last month prohibit:

1. The mailing of any packages to men overseas unless they contain items requested specifically by the soldier thru his commanding officer.
2. The mailing of any package weighing more than 5 pounds, more than 15 inches in length, or more than 36 inches in length and girth combined.
3. The mailing of any newspaper or magazine unless the soldier was a subscriber prior to the effective date of the mailing restrictions or has since requested that his name be put on the subscription lists.

Won't Accept Air Mail.

The army postal service also announced that no air mail letters would be taken overseas by plane except V-mail letters. The V-mail letter is a letter written on special forms obtainable at any postoffice or in any store carrying writing materials.

After the V-mail has gone, along with all other overseas mail, thru the hands of the censors, it is photographed onto a roll of microfilm. A small roll of the microfilm holds as many as 1,500 letters. Because of its small size, the film roll of letters is put on the first plane going overseas. The letters then are reproduced on special paper and distributed.

The army men say the V-mail letter is the only type of overseas mail on which they can guarantee delivery. They say it usually will reach the soldier in 8 to 10 days after mailing while regular mail takes from one to two months usually.

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, Feb. 4 (AP).—Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle in a brief ceremony today awarded 94 oak leaf clusters, 34 air medals, and 1 silver star to flyers of the 12th United States air force.

Capt. Mark J. Mourne.

Included among the fighter pilots and their awards were: Captains Mark J. Mourne of Hinsdale, Ill., air medal with one cluster, and Ralph L. Knapp of Blandinsville, Ill., air medal with three clusters; and 1st Lt. Russell F. Gustke of Port Huron, Mich., D. F. C., air medal with three clusters.

MENTIONED IN DISPATCH.

Capt. Mark J. Mourne, 806 Wilson lane, Hinsdale, Ill., was mentioned in a dispatch dated last Dec. 1 reporting that he had given fighter plane escort to a light bomber which rescued six Americans forced down in axis held territory in Tunisia.

RUSSIANS' SUCCESSES TRACED TO NEW PLAN OF GROUPING BIG GUNS

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP).—Russia's successes at Leningrad and Stalingrad today were attributed by an informed observer in a great part to the soviets' development of a new pattern for grouping artillery. This source said the artillery system has given Russian infantry "an equal if not more than equal chance" against the German defense in depth system. Of the shattering of the siege ring at Leningrad the observer said:

"The Germans are masters at building fixed defenses and they had for many months perfected depth fortifications around Leningrad. The belt was between 9 and 10 miles in depth. The success achieved from the new Russian method of using heavy artillery against this type of defense can be duplicated wherever depth fortifications are met."

The successes chalked up by the advancing Red army now have caused the soviets to completely redraw their plans so that the offensive will not halt even when the "farthest limit" of previously specified objectives has been reached, this source said.

3 JUDGES STUDY NEW TRIAL FOR O'DONNELL LIBEL

Presiding Jurist Friend of Defendant Stern.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 4 [Special].—Three judges of the Court of Common Pleas here today took under advisement a motion for a new trial requested by attorneys for the Philadelphia [Pa.] Record against which John O'Donnell, head of the Washington bureau of the New York Daily News, on Jan. 29 obtained a $50,000 verdict for libel.

O'Donnell, who incurred previous White House displeasure for his non-interventionist views, brought suit against the Record because of an editorial published April 18, 1941, in that newspaper.

The editorial, which J. David Stern, publisher of the Record, admits he wrote himself, was headed "A Deliberate Lie," repeating the same language employed by Stephen Early, White House press secretary, who said he spoke for the President.

Prediction Comes True.

It also referred to O'Donnell as a "Naziphile," and as one who favored "destruction of the British empire." It grew out of a news story written by O'Donnell in which he said that charges would be made in the senate that American warships were convoying lend-lease material to England. These charges of the warship convoy were made in the senate next day as predicted by Sen. Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.].

The court sat en banc. The judges who composed it are part of a minority group of seven Democrats on the Common Pleas bench which has 21 members. The other judges are Republican.

Judge L. Stauffer Oliver, who presided over the all day session, owes his original appointment to Stern, his political friend and benefactor, during the régime of former Gov. George H. Earle in 1937. At that time the Democrats had control of Pennsylvania politics and created two new courts of Common Pleas and also a Family court for Philadelphia county.

State's Biggest Libel Verdict.

Other judges who sat in today's hearings were James C. Crumlish and Joseph Sloane. The latter presided at last week's trial which ended with the correspondent being awarded the largest libel verdict ever returned in a Pennsylvania court.

Lemuel B. Schofield, counsel for the Record at today's hearing, in asking that the verdict be set aside and a new trial granted, claimed the jury had given insufficient consideration to the evidence and that the jury award represented a miscarriage of justice.

Schofield told the three judge court that truth was not the issue in the case but that "privilege" was the only issue. He complained that nowhere in his charge had Judge Sloane at last week's trial instructed the jury that they had a right to rely upon the testimony of reliable citizens to establish "probable cause" for the attack on O'Donnell.

Pleads Justification.

"Newspapers in Pennsylvania have a right under the law to rely on the testimony of reliable persons," Schofield stated. "Stern would have been justified not only in calling O'Donnell a biased reporter but also a liar because the President called him a liar," he said.

Schofield contended that the matter of motive was all important in the case and said that Stern acted from the highest of patriotic impulses.

Schofield also sought to impeach the verdict because a court attaché informed the judge he had learned the jury of eight men and four women had reached a verdict within a few minutes after starting their deliberations at the end of the nine day trial.

Press Freedom Argued.

In his summation, Schofield said his client's request for a new trial "involves the freedom of the press in this [Philadelphia] community." He said that upon the court's decision rested the right of a publisher to "speak in times of stress," and asked to what extent "must a publisher guarantee the complete accuracy of what he publishes?"

John D. M. Hamilton of the Philadelphia firm of Pepper, Bodine, Stokes & Schock, who represented O'Donnell, asked the court to disregard this contention, saying: "Men have been hanged after only five minutes' deliberation by a jury. No court officer without violation of his oath has any right to report what goes on inside a jury room."

Hamilton charged that the court had "permitted the defendant [Stern] to explore the fields of hearsay in a manner which I have never heard before." This exploration he said, "led to hearsay upon hearsay."

On Stand for Most of Day.

Gardner Jackson, an ex-government employé, he said, had stayed on the witness stand for most of one day and admitted that he had never talked to Stern altho Stern had used as "probable cause" some of the alleged conversations Jackson is said to have had with O'Donnell.

"All of their evidence," said Hamilton, "was part of this nebulous thing called probable cause. Never has evidence gone so far afield as it has in this case. This is opening the most astounding field of defense. Under it a newspaper may publish anything even if told to one of its employés who is deaf."

Hamilton contended that truth must be shown before probable cause could be advanced as a defense. "We have never conceded and never will concede," he said, "that even the President of the United States has the right to call a man a liar and then have it stand up as a matter of probable cause. We do not believe that is a part of the executive function."

In rebuttal Hamilton assailed the credibility of Stern's witnesses. He laid an extra heavy barrage in the direction of Robert S. Allen, Kenneth Crawford, Jackson, and Ulric Bell, all fellow travelers in the New Deal "Fight for Freedom" group.

Ordinarily the case would have been heard Feb. 23, which is the regular date for considering motions for new trials. But acting on the urgent pleas of Stern's legal counsel the court granted the rehearing motion only six days after the verdict was returned against their client.

Meet to Aid Drive for Red Cross Fund

Chairmen Named

Top officers representing 58 business and industrial groups were appointed chairmen yesterday to become the nucleus organization for the $8,750,000 war fund drive of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross which will open March 1. The Chicago quota, more than twice the 1942 figure of $4,200,000, is part of the national drive to raise $125,000,000, the largest amount ever sought in a single campaign.

Martin H. Kennelly, chairman of the campaign, and James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter, explained to the business leaders that increased services to the 7,000,000 men in uniform largely accounted for the greater budget. These services, many of which were not available to the smaller army of 1918, include providing blood plasma and surgical dressings.

The chairmen will build up organizations of vice chairmen, team captains, and workers within the industries they represent. The group will be responsible for contributions of employés, executives, and corporations. The Chicago chapter includes Cook and Du Page counties and the south half of Lake county.

3,173 Hotel Employes in Loop Area Win Raise

Thomas Rogan, president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employés Joint Council, announced yesterday that the war labor board had agreed to an 8.9 per cent weekly wage increase for 3,173 bartenders, cooks, waiters, waitresses, and miscellaneous employés of loop area hotels. The increase is retroactive to Aug. 1, 1942, and the back wages total approximately $250,000.

NEW DRAFT EDICT BRINGS BIG RUSH TO GET WAR JOBS

35% Rise in Applications Reported in Chicago.

Spurred by the war man power commission's edict that dependents will be no cause for draft deferment after April 1, hundreds of thousands of men thruout the country have swamped United States employment offices for war jobs, it was disclosed yesterday.

In Chicago applications to the United States employment service for jobs in essential industries had increased 35 per cent, according to figures released last night by officials of the WMC.

William H. Spencer, regional director of the WMC in Chicago, said that some offices, particularly on the west side, had shown 100 per cent increases in applications over the normal.

Huge Increase in New York.

In New York City, applications with the United States employment service for war jobs jumped to 29,802 Wednesday, the day after the warning, compared with 8,000 daily before then. The rush continued yesterday with 13,493 interviewed, according to the Associated Press.

The Philadelphia office of the service reported 500 telephone inquiries an hour. Applications were up 50 per cent in Omaha, Neb., and 30 per cent in Des Moines, Ia.

In Washington, whose workers fall largely into two classes, those in the government and those in service industries, officials of the employment service were considering putting on special evening shifts of interviewers.

Light in War Industry Centers.

Some population centers already heavily engaged in war work reported only mild interest. Baltimore [Md.] war plants said there was a flurry of applications Wednesday, but it quieted down and similar advices came from the employment service.

Birmingham [Ala.] officials said there had been scarcely any reaction from the draft warning, but that an advertisment of free training for war work had brought large numbers of applicants. From New Orleans, La., came a report of "surprisingly little interest."

In issuing the warning, the man power commission said 3,200,000 transfers from nonessential occupations to war work must be made in 1943.

Officials said yesterday that many men were asking whether they would have to leave their home city in order to get into jobs which will defer them if they have dependents. They are being told that for the present they will not have to move.

No Adjustment of Quotas.

Another question was whether the draft quotas would be raised in cities having large numbers of men in non-deferrable jobs. The answer to this is no, officials said.

Rep. William J. Miller [R., Conn.], a World war aviator, asserted in the house that the WMC policy was contrary to the intent of congress when it passed the selective service act.

"If it is allowed to stand, then congress might just as well admit that it is powerless to act," he declared.

Rep. Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.] called it the "entering wedge" in a program to remove dependency deferment altogether.

Drafting of fathers, he argued, would result in many mothers working outside the home, improper guidance of young children, and a threat to the "preservation of the family in American life."

ROOSEVELT AIDE GETS COMMAND OF BIG NAVY SHIP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—The White House announced today that Capt. John L. McCrea, President Roosevelt's naval aide, had been relieved at his own request to take command of one of the navy's "biggest and most powerful boats."

Capt. McCrea will be succeeded as White House aide by Rear Adm. Wilson Brown, now in command of the first naval district at Boston, Mass., who served as Mr. Roosevelt's first naval aide 10 years ago.

YANKS GAIN ON GUADALCANAL; BOMB JAP BASES

Navy Keeps Silence on Sea Action in Solomons.

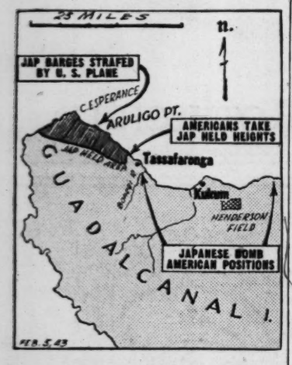
The navy in Washington, D. C., yesterday announced in its communique that "details concerning recurrent engagements between United States air and surface forces and those of the enemy will not be announced as long as such information might jeopardize the safety of our forces in the area of operations."

The communique, however, told of land and air actions against the Japanese, reporting that American troops made further advances on Guadalcanal on Tuesday despite aerial bombardment, occupying elevated positions west of the Bonegi river, killing 39 Japs and capturing considerable equipment.

Bomb Jap Airport.

American fighter planes strafed enemy barges in Guadalcanal waters on Tuesday and the same night bombers and torpedo planes struck the Japanese air field at Munda, 180 miles away.

Earlier, a dispatch from a correspondent with the fleet in the South



Pacific reported a bombing attack by Japanese planes against American warships the night of Friday, Jan. 29, in the Solomons area. The results of this attack were not disclosed. Tokio's earlier claims to sinking two battleships and three cruisers have been termed gross exaggerations in Washington.

The German news agency, DNB, broadcast new Japanese claims yesterday which said an American cruiser had been sunk, one heavily damaged, and 33 planes shot down in a Japanese attack south of Santa Isabel Island, north of Guadalcanal, on Monday.

Start Fires at Buin.

In indirect support of American forces in the Solomons, Catalina flying boats of Gen. MacArthur's forces harassed the Japanese airdrome at Buin, on the southern tip of Bougainville Island, for three hours in a night raid early yesterday, starting seven fires. Four were believed to be burning planes. Buin is roughly 300 miles northwest of American-held Guadalcanal.

Other raiders attacked seven places, including Rabaul, New Britain, which had its sixth straight night raid. Observation there has been extremely difficult lately and nothing specific has been reported as certainly hit for several days.

CARVER DISCIPLE CARRIES ON WORK OF GREAT NEGRO

Tuskegee, Ala., Feb. 4 (AP).—The work of the late George Washington Carver is being carried on at Tuskegee institute by a modest, 31 year old Negro scientist, who was Dr. Carver's assistant and constant companion for nearly eight years.

He is Austin W. Curtis Jr., who became associated with Dr. Carver in 1935 and soon fell in with the aims of his teacher—to give new vigor to sterile southern land and to aid its people. The two became inseparable.

With Carver's aid, Curtis developed a breakfast cereal and an artificial leather from the pumpkin and made available low cost paint from Alabama clay and plants.

Fighters Win Heroes' Awards

Chicagoans Honored

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—Letters of commendation have been awarded 22 navy enlisted men for "devotion to duty and courage" when a submarine torpedoed and sank an American merchant vessel on which they were serving as a gun crew, the navy announced today.

The award was also given two Chicago men listed as missing in action. They were Edward F. Zebrowski, 5219 South May street, and Thomas P. Fennessy, 10 South Karlov street.

Among others commended were: Theodore M. Treglown, Rockford, Ill.; Leo V. Zeroz, 1104 45th street, Kenosha, Wis.; George Hanus, 2658 South Avers avenue, Chicago; William E. Cook, Montague, Mich, and Maurice H. Vanderwyst, Unity, Wis.

Congressional Medal

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—President Roosevelt today presented the congressional medal of honor to Maj. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift of the marines, for "outstanding and heroic accomplishment" against Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands.

Gen. Vandegrift is the first marine in this war to receive both the congressional medal and the navy cross. The navy cross was bestowed in October at Guadalcanal by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commanding the Pacific fleet. Today's ceremony took place in the President's office. It was attended by Mrs. Vandegrift, and their son, Maj. Alexander Vandegrift Jr., also of the marines.

Silver Stars Awarded.

27 COMMUNISTS FREED BY GIRAUD IN NORTH AFRICA

Report 5,500 Prisoners Will Be Released.

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, Feb. 4 (AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud today freed 27 Communist deputies who had been under arrest since 1940, and the allied commission on political prisoners announced that 903 political prisoners had been liberated since the allied landings.

"There are still 5,500 political prisoners in custody, most of whom are Spanish republicans whose cases are under investigation," it was stated officially.

All Sent from France.

Among the Communist deputies released was Henri Martel, imprisoned before the fall of France on charges of spreading anti-war propaganda in factories.

All the Communists had been sent from France to North Africa as prisoners. Most were arrested by the Vichy régime.

Giraud recently stated there would be no political prejudice against any man—Communist, Jew, or Freemason—if he worked for the liberation of France.

Allies Make Inquiries.

Among the 903 political prisoners declared free were 300 Poles sent to Britain some time ago. The rest were set free after investigations by the British-American commission on political prisoners. The inquiries were headed by the American and British consuls general.

"All Spanish political prisoners will be released as soon as shipping space is found to send them to Mexico, as the Mexican government said it would accept them," a spokesman said.

[Fighting French headquarters in Washington appealed to the American public Feb. 1 to press for the fulfillment of President Roosevelt's request that all anti-Nazi political prisoners in French Africa be released and all Nazi inspired laws and decrees be abrogated. The Fighting French spokesman, Jean Baube, said the request had been made almost three months ago, but that concentration camps in North Africa still were full of political prisoners.]

GERMAN RADIO NOT SURE WHERE CHURCHILL IS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Berlin radio displayed a perplexed but continuing interest yesterday and last night in the movements of British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

One broadcast during the day recorded by the Associated Press quoted a dispatch datelined Stockholm saying Churchill had made a "hasty visit to Moscow" following last weekend's conference with Turkish leaders in Turkey.

Then last night the same radio broadcast a dispatch datelined Madrid saying that the prime minister was in Gibraltar en route back to London.

WELLES SIGNALS END OF ALTRUISM IN FOREIGN POLICY

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—A swing far to the right in America's foreign policy was indicated today in Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles' statement that "self-interest" rather than "emotional altruism or sentimental aspirations" should be the keystone of this country's international relations.

Sumner Welles.

The retreat from extreme internationalism, under which the administration contemplated policing the world after the war, was sounded in an address to the graduating class of the University of Maryland at College Park, Md.

"It can never be made too clear, nor reiterated too often, that the foreign policy of the people of the United States, exactly like their domestic policies, should only be determined from the standpoint of what the American people believe is their real, their practical self-interest," Welles said. "Our foreign policy must not be—and in the long run never will be—based upon emotional altruism nor sentimental aspiration."

Policing Idea Fading.

In these words Welles, who has been the administration's chief mouthpiece on foreign policy, was seen as abandoning the plan he announced almost a year ago for policing the world until permanent systems of general security can be established in the various axis conquered nations.

The experience this country has received in North African politics is believed to have influenced the turn from this altruistic plan. Sentimentalism in North Africa favored American intervention on behalf of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Fighting French, but practical considerations—American lives and the conquest of the French African colonies—dictated the deal with Adm. Jean Darlan and his successor as French high commissioner in North Africa, Gen. Henri Giraud.

It was also noted that Welles was not so enthusiastic for the formation of a new world order, patterned after Woodrow Wilson's league of nations proposal. He called for "continued coöperation of armies, navies and air forces of the united nations to assure maintenance of prosperity, peace and human rights and liberties in which all Americans believe," but said nothing of the formation of a new world government.

Recognizes Nationalism Trend.

The address was believed to have been aimed at quieting mounting suspicion that the administration is involving itself in diplomatic tangles which will once more place the United States in the rôle of winning the war and losing the peace. It was also interpreted as a recognition of the mounting tide of nationalism and individualism which observers have noted in the fighting forces and which was evidenced in the Democratic defeat at the polls last November.

Great hope has been kindled in the hearts of the conquered peoples of the world by the entrance of the United States into "this battle of freedom," Welles said. He added that hope rests in part on the tremendous power of this nation, but it also rests "upon the moral character of the United States."

He said the people of other nations know that we have no selfish ends in view; desire not an inch of territory; covet the property of no other people, and have no desire to dominate any other race.

BRITISH REFUSE TO BAR 'PRO-NAZI' GROUP'S MEETING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, refused today to prevent "an organization which advocates peace by negotiation with Adolf Hitler" from holding a public meeting.

Tom Driberg, Independent, said that the meeting was "scheduled to be held in the near future in a London theater." Asking that the meeting be barred, Driberg said that the organization also distributes "pro-Nazi, anti-parliament, and anti-Semitic propaganda."

The name of the organization was not divulged, but Morrison said he was keeping the closest watch upon it. He added, however, that the forthcoming meeting, according to his information, was "not likely to attract so much public interest that serious disorders" would result and, therefore, it would be premature for him to take the action requested.

YANKS HOLD KEY LINE ON SOUTHERN FRONT IN TUNISIA

Their Positions Command Approaches to Coast.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN THE FIELD, South Central Tunisia, Feb. 2 [Delayed].—An American army composed of infantry and artillery tonight is holding many strategic positions along the Grand Dorsal line, which is the ridge of mountains commanding the approaches to the Tunisian coast and German Marshal Erwin Rommel's supply lines.

This Tunisian backbone—or Grand Dorsal line, as the French call it—is not entirely in allied hands. The British positions to the north in places are threatened by the Germans from Pont du Fahs; the French, supported by Americans, are holding the central sector, while a purely American force is strongly entrenched farther south at the railway town of Sened, just west of an important pass to Maknassy.

Strong U. S. Forces Face Nazis.

It is evident that the American troops are facing the remnants of two of Rommel's armored divisions which were thrown into the line of operations against Sened and are working out from Sfax, Kairouan, and positions farther north.

If the Germans intend to make a fight for Tunisia—and there is every indication that they do—they will find opposed to them, particularly in the south central sector, strong American armored forces.

As long as the American units are permitted to operate together as they were trained to do and under their own generalship, they can be expected to give a good account of themselves. That is, providing our air force can produce fighter planes able to contend with the Germans.

Allies Build Up Strength.

LONDON — [Delayed] — (AP). — The battle of North Africa is being won in Algiers and Morocco, far behind the front lines. Here the allies are building a crushing force of men, munitions, and supplies. Observers say there can be no doubt of the outcome when the allied force lets loose.

Planes are everywhere. Great hidden supply bases and ammunition dumps are strung out more than 1,000 miles from Morocco to Tunisia. Reenforcements from America and the United Kingdom are arriving swiftly. In addition, transport planes are winging in important supplies.

Altho the supply lines of the axis are shorter than those of the allies, observers say Germany and Italy already are running second in the amount of equipment in North Africa.

HOME BASED R. A. F. BOMBERS STRIKE AT ITALY

LONDON, Feb. 5 [Friday]—(AP).—Home based R. A. F. bombers smashed at Italy and enemy occupied territory last night, it was stated authoritatively today.

This was the first raid of the year by bombers from Britain against Italy, tho that country has been struck a number of times by British and American airmen based in the Mediterranean area.

It marked the third successive night attack in the heavy allied day and night offensive against axis objectives and followed a day in which bombers of the United States army air forces, making their second raid of the war on Germany, struck at northwest Germany.

Large formations of Flying Fortresses and their mates of the RAF dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on northwestern Germany in an around-the-clock offensive Wednesday and yesterday which was aimed at Adolf Hitler's essential submarine works.

Preliminary indications were that the powerful night attack by the British on Hamburg, followed yesterday by large formations of Flying Fortresses, was meant to be one of the biggest allied aerial offensives of the war, but icy clouds and deadly opposition were encountered and 21 bombers were lost—five of them American.

The American raid was the second United States daylight air attack on Germany proper.

200 Mile Winter Route Runs Northeast from Alaska Road

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 4 (AP).—A 200 mile winter road has been completed between Fort Simpson, Northwest Territories on the Mackenzie river, and Fort Nelson, British Columbia, on the Alaska highway, United States engineers division headquarters here said today. The road provided the first link with the "outside" for the vast, rich territory lying northeast of the Alaska highway route.

HINTS GERMAN MOURNING MAY BE FOR HITLER

New York, Feb. 4 [Special]—Is Adolf Hitler dead? Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia, hinted as much in a radio broadcast tonight when he said that the days of mourning and grief in Germany suggest the possibility that Der Fuehrer may be dead.

But, he added, the catch is that whether Hitler is alive or dead, the Nazi party is still very much alive and that Germany will fight until she is crushed.

Davies predicted that Germany will launch a great drive for the Baku oil fields of Russia this summer and asserted that only an overwhelming drive with massed air power could bring the war to an end this year.

He warned against axis inspired efforts to drive a wedge between Russia and the other allied nations, and said that even tonight propaganda was being circulated that Russia is seeking a separate peace with Germany.

BRITISH CAPTURE HEIGHT IN NORTH TUNISIAN SECTOR

Disclose Yankees' Seizure of Italian General.

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP).—British forces have captured a northern Tunisian height known as Hill 648 in a renewal of fighting six miles southeast of Bou Arada, an allied communique from North Africa said today. The hill is in the Jebel Mansour area, midway between Mejez al Bab and Robaa, some 30 miles southwest of Tunis. The communique described the action as a "limited success," altho a Nazi counter-attack was repulsed.

Meanwhile, field dispatches reported that the American striking force which captured Sened and dug in a mile east of the town on the rail line thru Maknassy to the coast had taken prisoner an Italian general.

Allied bombers attacked the port of Gabes and enemy positions near Maknassy, and for one of the few times lost more planes than they shot down. The communique said six axis planes were destroyed to eight allied planes missing.

Patrols Harass Rommel.

At the eastern end of the line, the British 8th army pursuing Marshal Erwin Rommel westward from Libya reported only patrol activity against his rear guard.

Allied air action was reported from Tunisia to Sicily and Italy.

The 12th United States air force based at Cairo attacked the major axis bases of Palermo and Messina, on Sicily. No planes were lost.

ITALY ADMITS RAIDS.

The Italian high command reported raids on Sicily and Italy, but said that four American bombers were shot down during a raid which caused 16 deaths, injuries to 41, and "notable damage to buildings" at Palermo and that another allied craft was destroyed during a thrust at "one of our air and naval bases." Ragusa, Sicily, and Reggio Calabria, on the Italian toe, also were raided, it said.

The German communique said:

600 Germans in Istanbul Called for Draft Exams

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 2 [Delayed]—(AP).—All Germans in Istanbul between 18 and 45 years old have been called to the German consulate for medical examination preparatory to induction into the military forces, it was reliably reported today. About 600 would be affected.

Pilot Dies as Bomber, in Test Flight, Crashes

Dayton, O., Feb. 4 (AP).—A medium bomber crashed during tests at Patterson field today, killing the pilot whose name was withheld pending notification of relatives, army officers announced. The plane went into a dive, struck the roof of a house and smashed into a garage.

BRITISH INSPECT 52 TON NAZI TANK WITH 7 IN. ARMOR

Bears Flame Thrower; Moves Limited.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 4.—(AP).—A new 52 ton German Mark VI. tank has been knocked out on the Tunisian front by British six pounders which pierced its thick armor with four shells, an allied spokesman said today. He referred to one of the two 52 tonners knocked out several days ago at Bou Arada. He said the tank had been thoroly investigated "inside and out."

The German tanks were reported to have seven inches of armor in front and to be equipped with an 88 mm. cannon.

Said to Carry Flame Thrower.

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP).—Battle estimates of Germany's Mark VI. tank failed to impress military observers here. The composite picture gathered from American and British sources indicate the Mark VI. weighs between 56 and 62 tons. The tank carries a crew of eight, travels at about 22 miles an hour and produces heavy fire power. One foreign source said the tank had a flame thrower having a 75 yard range.

This combination of armor and guns is much heavier than anything used by the United States or Britain. The main armor is supposedly invulnerable against 75 mm. guns, the heaviest carried by American and British tanks. It probably can withstand 105 mm. shells, the heaviest fired from anti-tank guns on motors.

See Handicap in Weight.

The great weight of the Mark VI., it is believed, complicates its movement in a country like Tunisia where few bridges are able to support it. Certainly no plane is capable of flying it to the battlefront as some German tanks have been transported.

The greatest value, military experts say, is its use as a mobile pillbox around Tunis and Bizerte.

HOUSE OF LORDS IS BRANDED AS CHAMBER OF DUST

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Britain's ancient house of lords today was branded by the Evening Star as a "superfluous . . . chamber of historical dust and dotage." In calling attention to the importance of a speech in the house of lords yesterday by W. M. Aitkin [also known as Lord Beaverbrook], in which he emphasized the importance of the allies exploiting Russia's victories before the Germans recover, the Star said:

"It is a matter of regret that [the] speech could not have been delivered before the true sounding board of the nation—the house of commons. That is the place for those with something to say. Here is evidence to support the Star's contention that the house of lords is a superfluous anachronism in our political system.

"There is something slightly grotesque in compelling such speakers to address a mere handful of peers in an antimacassar and aspidastra atmosphere. Nobody would ever miss this chamber of historical dust and dotage."

BRITISH SINK 14 AXIS VESSELS IN MEDITERRANEAN

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP).—New successes in the allied campaign of attrition against axis sea communications—the destruction of 14 and perhaps 16 axis ships in the Mediterranean by submarine and bomber action over a period of several days—were announced today.

Four of the axis ships went down under bomber attacks and 10 under submarine assault. Two others were hit and were believed sunk. The submarine successes were scored in operations from the Tunisian coast, within gun range of the shore, to the Strait of Messina, between Italy and Sicily.

OPA TO SUE 8 AS GAS CHEATERS; CHARGES DENIED

Holders of B and C Books Are Accused.

Revocation proceedings against six Chicago motorists holding C gasoline ration coupons and two holding B books will be instituted next week by the office of price administration, Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area OPA administrator, said yesterday. The coupons were impounded in seven of the cases.

Charges that the motorists got the extra gasoline coupons improperly will be the basis for hearings to be conducted by the rationing boards. The boards have the power to suspend, revoke, or reduce gasoline rations.

Mulcahy said action also would be taken against a filling station operator who allegedly sold gasoline without receiving rationing coupons. One motorist will be charged with usmg his B card for pleasure driving.

Those Holding C Books.

Abbott Lieberman, 5505 Winthrop avenue, Chicago, and 4638 Lake street, Minneapolis, Minn., misleading statements concerning place of employment. Couldn't be reached for comment.

Thomas E. Mulvaney, 2649 North Kedzie avenue; misleading statements concerning monthly mileage required in the performance of his occupation. Mulvaney said he preferred not to discuss the matter "until I find out what it's all about."

George Henry Sloan, 1759 North Oak Park avenue; principal occupation reported as maintenance service engineer, while actually a salesman. Sloan insisted the charge was false. "I was a maintenance service engineer when I asked for a C card," he said. "Now I'm a paint salesman and I turned in my C card two weeks ago."

Walter Guy Starrett, 35 South St. Louis avenue; misleading statements as to distance to and from work and monthly mileage required. Couldn't be reached for comment.

Thomas Peller, 333 South Campbell avenue; inaccurate residence address. Peller said he gave the address of a new home he is building in Des Plaines: "I expected to move in about Dec. 15, but bad weather set in and it isn't finished yet."

Harold W. Myers, 3939 Adams street; misleading statements on monthly mileage required going to and from work. A war plant worker, Myers also blamed the weather for his troubles with the OPA. He said icy streets prevented him from driving to work as often as usual. His application set 750 miles a month as his minimum requirement, whereas the OPA charged he covered only 250 miles between Dec. 9 and Jan. 13.

Holders of B Books.

The B book holders are Rudolph Martinka, 1215 North Claremont avenue, charged with using ration coupons for pleasure driving instead of for occupational needs, and Joe Pavela, 3800 Wallace street, misrepresenting his true name, address, and principal occupation. Martinka and Pavela could not be reached for comment.

Fred Czarnecki, operator of the Edgewood Service station at 5979 Elston avenue, was accused by Mulcahy of selling gasoline without taking ration coupons. Mulcahy said Czarnecki admitted using 100 gallons himself without coupons and selling 800 gallons to the public without demanding coupons.

Station Operator's Explanation.

Czarnecki first told investigators that the gasoline coupons had been stolen during a burglary of his station. Last night, however, he said OPA investigators persuaded him to admit there had been no burglary. He said that when they refused to believe his story of the burglary and urged him to admit the violation, he agreed "to get the heat off me."

"I'm telling the truth," Czarnecki said. "There was a burglary. Some of the neighborhood kids stole about $20 in cash receipts and the coupons. I never sold any gasoline without getting coupons."

The OPA enforcement action is the first since gasoline rationing started Dec. 1. Mulcahy said no criminal prosecution was contemplated at present, altho the regulations provide for maximum penalties of $10,000 fine and 10 years in jail for misrepresentation and fraudulent methods in obtaining gasoline rations.

Mulcahy disclosed that he has been compelled by OPA regulations to deny extra gasoline coupons to soldiers and sailors visiting their families in Chicago. He said the OPA had made no provision for such needs, altho the rules are liberal in providing electioneering gasoline for political candidates.

SERVANTS' PAY MUST BE LISTED BY HOUSEWIVES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—Because of lowered income tax exemptions, many housewives who employ domestic servants may become acquainted for the first time this year with the government's annual information return.

Treasury officials said today that householders who paid more than $500 last year to a domestic servant, if the servant was single, or $1,200 if married, must report such payments to the internal revenue bureau by Feb. 15. Wilful failure to file a return is punishable by $10,000 fine or a year in jail, or both.

RUML WARNS U. S. AGAINST 'VICIOUS' TAX DEBT SYSTEM

Asks Pay-as-You-Go to Avert Peril.

lenged Ruml's statements repeatedly, declaring:

"You wouldn't forgive me a debt if you were in business. Why, I couldn't sleep good if I was getting out of a debt I ought to pay."

Faulty from Start.

Ruml asserted that the income tax collection system was faulty at its inception. In 1914, when taxes were first levied on 1913 income, the nation started on a "vicious circle" of paying out of the present year on levies for the year that had already gone, he said.

Then as the rates have increased, he continued, the debt which the wage earners and other tax payers owe their government has become a "national danger" with citizens forced by the law to pay up at the appointed time regardless of their ability to bear the burden.

"Can we expect the new taxpayers or even the old ones to keep up their payments for tax on their last year's income at present rates if their current income should slacken or abruptly cease?" he asked.

Denies Inflation Danger.

The witness denied flatly that complete suspension of a year of taxes to make way for current collections would be an inflationary step. On the contrary, he argued, it would be a financial gain for the government thru the improved financial condition of its citizens, better collections and ability to realize on increased national income a year sooner.

The chief treasury argument against the Ruml plan has been the loss of the 10 billions in paper assets which are due for 1942 levies. However, Randolph Paul, general counsel for the treasury, did suggest to the committee that congress might find it desirable to defer or forgive part of the last year's taxes, probably in the lower income brackets.

OPA GRANTS FUEL OIL TO INDUSTRY NOW USING GAS

In the face of their repeated contention there is a serious shortage of fuel oil, office of price administration officials in Washington have just opened flood gates whereby large industrial users who ordinarily burn gas may—and probably will—consume five times as much burning oil as has been saved for the war by all the rationing imposed on home owners and flat dwellers.

This was made known yesterday by E. W. Miles, official of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, as members of the Illinois legislature appointed to the special committee to investigate the whole OPA fuel oil rationing muddle were preparing to meet next Monday in Springfield.

Fill in for Gas Lack.

The ration order amendment opening up oil to the large industrial gas users, stated that the gas burners may apply for whatever quantities of fuel oil they may claim to need, if the gas supply is interrupted at any time.

The industrial gas flow furnished by the public utilities frequently ceases for a month or more at a time, Mr. Miles said, and pointed out that users will get all the fuel oil they demand to supplant the gas in the meantime.

Hearings in Three Areas.

The amendment, effective Jan. 31, and just received by local OPA offices, is the work of Joel Dean, director of fuel rationing in Washington OPA headquarters. It specifies that during any cessation of gas flow, the plants may use oil for three months at a time. Oil men have estimated that from 200 to 300 million gallons will go for that purpose in the middle west, while only about one-fifth of that amount has been saved by the rationing program.

Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neil [R., Downers Grove] who introduced the resolution to investigate fuel oil rationing in the house at Springfield Tuesday, is a member of the committee. She said hearings will be held in southern Illinois, in Springfield, and in Chicago. "We want the whole picture," she added, "and will call local OPA officials, distributors, and users of oil."

Frank E. Spencer, president of the Burning Oil Distributors' association, the most consistent battler for a change in rationing, said he hoped some relief will come out of the hearings "during the remainder of this season."

A drive started in mid-January by the office of price administration, the petroleum administrator for war, and the war production board, already has brought 80 changes from fuel oil to coal. These, it was said, are expected to save a total of 2,372,166 gallons of fuel oil a year.

DISCOVER VENERABLE PRECEDENT FOR RUML TAX PLAN IN THE BIBLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Biblical precedents for suspending tax collections to bring taxpayers up to date on payments today were cited during a hearing before the house ways and means committee.

Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] said he had found an allusion to this in the 25th chapter of Leviticus, 10th verse, which reads:

"And ye shall hallow the 50th year, and proclaim liberty thruout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: It shall be a jubilee unto you, and ye shall return every man unto his possession, and ye shall return every man unto his family."

Beardsley Ruml, author of one pay-as-you-go plan, was asked how taxes could be absolutely current, and said they would have to be collected every day to make them so. He was asked, then, if there was no such thing as an absolutely current plan.

"That's right," he agreed. "And there is no such thing as an absolutely fresh egg, either."

NELSON PREDICTS CRISIS IN RUBBER WILL BE AVERTED

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Donald M. Nelson, war production chairman, told a press conference this afternoon that in his opinion the priorities given to synthetic rubber plant construction last week will avert a rubber crisis in October and November. However, he added that this merely was his personal judgment and that others might differ.

Specifically, Nelson said that the new over-all priorities for 43.6 per cent of the entire synthetic program will complete by mid-July plants with a rated annual capacity of 435,000 tons of tire materials.

Stockpile to Drop Farther.

The 1943 requirements have been listed at 577,000 tons, so that consumption in the meantime will continue to eat into a stockpile that had dwindled to 400,000 tons on the first of the year.

In the meantime, Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of an investigating subcommittee, indicated this afternoon that his group will attempt to determine whether reports of alleged shortages of materials for alcohol distilleries in the rubber program are true, and will study claims petroleum and grain supplies may not be adequate for synthetic rubber needs.

"The subcommittee is smelling for any oil interests in these reports of material shortages," said Gillette. "The big petroleum corporations, we learned last year, are zealous, to use a mild word, in blocking development of alcohol production, opposing this competition in the rubber field, and are fearful that alcohol will cut into the automobile fuel business after the war.

"The technology of alcohol production is developing so rapidly that wood, plastic, glass, and earthware can substitute for scarce metals to a large extent, hurdling this obstacle to distillery construction.

"The renewed reports of dissipation of the nation's oil reserves are pertinent to our synthetic rubber program. The food outlook is becoming darker, so we must study whether grain or other materials should be used for alcohol.

"The country wants to know the truth about the reports of shortages of component parts needed for the synthetic rubber plants and for the erection of aviation gasoline refineries and for the construction of escort vessels.

Look to Correction.

"No one wants to interfere with the aviation gas and escort vessel program, but we want to be sure that deprivation of these parts for alcohol rubber plants is solely for these urgent war purposes. And we want to learn how soon this shortage of equipment is going to be corrected by increased manufacture."

The United States forest service, at the request of the war production board and with the coöperation of Rubber Director William M. Jeffers, is studying forestry waste as a source of alcohol for rubber and other war uses, thereby conserving grain and oil.

According to Dr. J. Alfred Hall, principal biochemist, salvage of this waste could produce 4 billion gallons of alcohol a year, eight times the present estimated requirements. He indicated that present requirements could be met by making alcohol from sawdust waste and from sulphite liquor which is poured into streams and lakes at woodpulp mills. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is pioneering the sulphite liquor process with construction of a distillery at its paper mills at Thorold, Ont.

Says Progress Cuts Needs.

Dr. Hall's preliminary report to WPB, as made public at a Gillette committee hearing, reflects rapid technological developments that are shrinking estimates of requirements for scarce metals to build alcohol plants.

And Fred Wilkie, vice president of Seagrams companies, Louisville, Ky., told in a long distance telephone interview of developments at his plant which, he said, indicate the WPB distillery construction program is grossly extravagant.

Wilkie said developments in his laboratories not only have reduced requirements for critical materials but have also, he declared, indicated it is unnecessary to build the 10 new refineries now on the WPB program at a cost of approximately 20 million dollars.

"By modernization with a tenth of the materials that would go into the new plants, the capacity of existing refineries could be increased from 440 million gallons to 650 million gallons a year. The projected 10 new plants would have a total capacity of 100 million gallons," he said.

"Furthermore, the government's designs are so antiquated that the new refineries will have to be closed after the war, whereas modernization would leave the country with usable refineries after the war. I believe this is being planned deliberately."

Wilkie said his company, like THE TRIBUNE, has made its developments available to the government and private industry without cost.

Proxy Wedding Gets Court Airing

Takes Second Wife

Frank Neubauer's proxy marriage may be more binding than he realizes, Judge Oscar F. Nelson said yesterday in Superior court. The court ordered an investigation to determine whether Neubauer, 28 years old and a roofer living at 812 Leland avenue, has one wife or two; and if two, perhaps to start bigamy prosecution.

Frank Neubauer.

Neubauer's troubles began recently when he filed a suit to annul his proxy marriage to Mrs. Eva Neubauer, 35, of 417 Webster avenue. His sister, Mrs. Sally Hoffman, 1641 Hudson avenue, went thru the marriage ceremony in Eva's place because, Neubauer later explained, Eva did not want to take time off from work. That was on Oct. 18, 1938. He left Eva on Jan. 15, 1940.

Then, on Dec. 30, 1940, Neubauer married Mary Richter, and they now have a daughter, Linda, 9 months old. His proxy wife answered his annulment suit with a counter-claim for divorce on the charge of desertion.

Judge Nelson instructed Assistant State's Attorney David Murphy to investigate the possibility of bigamy. He permitted Neubauer's annulment suit to be withdrawn and set the divorce action for hearing, with Murphy's report, on Feb. 15.

APPEAL BY LUCAS TOO LATE TO HALT NEW OPA SETUP

Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] won an empty victory yesterday in his campaign for home rule in the administration of the price control and rationing programs.

A month ago Lucas wrote to President Roosevelt asking him to intervene in the redistricting program then being launched by John C. Weigel, who was regional OPA administrator in Chicago until last Monday.

Yesterday, Prentiss M. Brown, national OPA administrator in Washington, D. C., notified OPA regional heads thruout the country to halt all redistricting except where the program has been advanced substantially. Brown emphasized that all redistricting should be abandoned if the new boundaries cross state lines.

Fletcher C. Kettle, administrative assistant to Raymond S. McKeough, new regional OPA administrator, said, however, that all the new district offices in the midwest region have been established except the one at North Platte, N. D.

"Mr. Brown's order does not affect us in this region," Kettle said. "The new district offices are in and we expect no change."

WORKMAN DIES OF INJURIES.

GREEN'S EXPOSE CLEARS WAY FOR DEFICIENCY BILLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—Administration leaders today predicted that Gov. Dwight H. Green's exposé of a Democratic attempt to trade senate votes on deficiency bills for an agreement on election contests would result in passage of the important emergency money bills Tuesday.

As the full story of the senate ruckus yesterday which resulted in temporary defeat of the bills and in the governor's blast at Cook county Democratic leadership leaked out, it became apparent that a split in the Democratic ranks to bring passage of the appropriations is possible.

Added to this was the possibility that Chicago Democrats may return to Springfield in a somewhat more docile mood next week after they learn the full effect of their action.

Former Gov. John Stelle was in the senate yesterday and attempted to convince his party members that the wisest policy was to vote for the measures. Republicans need six Democratic votes to get the two-thirds majority necessary for enactment.

DIPLOMAS LOST, SO RUBBER CLASS HEARS LECTURE

The 70 graduates of a rubber chemistry class were all on hand at their commencement exercises at Illinois Institute of Technology last night, but the diplomas had been midlaid. So after an address by Dr. H. A. Winkelmans, technical director for a rubber manufacturing company, the 70 were told their diplomas would be sent them by mail.

Winkelmans told the graduates that United States rubber stocks will reach an all-time low of 100,000 tons by June, and that in an effort to bolster these rapidly dwindling supplies, industry is turning more and more to plastics.

Raincoats, insulation of electric wires, and many other products formerly made of rubber now are being made of plastics.

M'KIBBIN LASHES KELLY BLOCKADE OF STATE FUNDS

New Low in Politics, Says G.O.P. Mayoral Entry.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

In his first north side campaign appearance, George B. McKibbin, regular Republican organization candidate for mayor, last night charged that the Kelly-Nash machine hit a new low when it blocked passage of deficiency appropriation bills for state institutions in the state senate Wednesday.

McKibbin condemned the Democrats for demanding a deal on state senate election contests in exchange for votes for the appropriation bills. Another attempt to pass the emergency measures will be made next week. McKibbin spoke at a rally at 2323 Devon avenue, in the 50th ward.

"We have seen the spoilsmen of the Kelly machine wage war on the penny lunches in the Chicago public schools," McKibbin said, "but we are amazed to know that its brazen spokesmen in the Illinois legislature have demanded approval of the machine's election tactics in the river wards here as the price of providing necessary food and fuel for the aged, the blind, the orphans, and the mentally and physically handicapped men, women, and children in our state institutions.

"Public indignation aroused by such tactics will be one more reason why we will 'Win on the Home Front, Too'."

Tackle National Issues.

For the first time McKibbin mentioned national issues in his campaign.

"The plight of the wards of these institutions," he said in explanation of the deficiency needs, "has resulted from the failure of our national government to curb inflation and check the ever-rising costs of the fuel, food, clothing, and other supplies upon which they depend."

Former Judge John H. Lyle continued his independent G. O. P. campaign with his drive against crowded street cars. He obtained court orders for 10 additional warrants against members of the board of managers of the Chicago surface lines as a result of his investigation of public transportation between 4 and 8 a. m.

Cites City Ordinance.

Lyle said he is acting under a city ordinance reënacted Dec. 20, 1940, which requires "comfort and safety of passengers without crowding" and that "the number of passengers to be carried shall not exceed seating capacity."

Arthur F. Albert, the other independent Republican candidate for the mayoral nomination, kept up his radio barrage last night against Gov. Green and McKibbin, whom he terms a "stooge candidate."

Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], one of the two rivals of Mayor Kelly for Democratic nomination, was represented on the radio last night by Raymond T. O'Keefe, president of the Car Riders' association.

Appeal Fails

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. ROSE K. JOYCE.

Holding that the evidence against her was sufficient, Judge John Prystalski of the Circuit court yesterday refused a review of the school board action which last June dismissed Mrs. Rose K. Joyce as a high school teacher on charges of uttering unpatriotic remarks before a history class.

Mrs. Joyce was said to have told a history class in the Hyde Park High school the day after Pearl Harbor that "we got what was coming to us." She denied the remarks at her school board trial last June. After her dismissal, she petitioned for a review, charging that her right of free speech was imperiled, and that the charges against her were made by "irresponsible girls and boys." She also attacked the school board's jurisdiction and manner of trial.

Judge Prystalski upheld the board action on all points, adding that the "evidence was sufficient to sustain the charges" against Mrs. Joyce. Her lawyer, Herbert C. Wetzel, said he will appeal. Mrs. Joyce lives at 703 North Dearborn street, and works as a volunteer Red Cross nursing aid.

HOUSE TO OPEN QUIZ IN CIO SHIP SCANDAL TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Complaints that weary marines at Guadalcanal were compelled to unload a supply ship because members of the CIO Maritime union refused to work on Sunday will be investigated tomorrow at a public hearing.

Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house committee on naval affairs and Rep. Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.], chairman of the subcommittee which will conduct the hearing, promised today that they will make a complete inquiry and that there will be no soft pedaling of details.

Witnesses scheduled for tomorrow's session are representatives of the Akron [O.] Beacon Journal, to whom three returned marines from the Solomon Islands told the story.

In an attempt to absolve the civilian seamen from the charges against them, Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, war shipping administrator, said yesterday that the fundamental cause for misconduct in the merchant marine is "war nerves." Vice Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., commander of the American forces in the south Pacific, last week denied that merchant marine seamen refused to unload ships at Guadalcanal.

Appropriation Bill Rider Hits Crackpot Fringe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Hedge hopping by governmental employés fired by congress—bouncing into other jobs on the federal pay roll—would be prevented under a plan announced to the house today by by Rep. Joe Hendricks [D., Fla.].

Rep. Joe Hendricks.

The plan is specifically aimed at the 40 employés listed Monday by Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the house committee on un-American activities as "radical, crackpot burocrats." Dies urged that they be driven from the pay roll.

Hendricks went a step further and asked that they be kept off the pay roll.

Attacks Pay for Radicals.

He introduced an amendment to the $1,202,007,320 treasury and post-office appropriation bill which would forbid the use of any of the money appropriated for payment of the salaries of those on the Dies list. Only one employé of the treasury, however, was on the list, and there was none from the postoffice department.

Hendricks told the house that some of those named by Dies have hedged hopped in the past in defiance of congress. One, he said, is David J. Saposs, dismissed from the national labor relations board after a congressional investigation and now assistant to the chief of the labor division of the war production board at $8,000 a year.

Hendricks said another is Henry G. Alsberg, former director of the WPA federal writers' project, which was exposed as a tool of the Communist party and abolished by congress. Hendricks reminded the house that Alsberg is now senior feature writer of the office of war information at $4,600 a year.

Nudist Still on Rolls.

Sam Schmerler, Hendricks related, was dismissed from the federal bureau of investigation for Communist activities and then hired by the social security board at $3,800 a year.

The Florida Democrat told of another man who was fired by congress from the WPA in 1941 on an amendment offered by Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.]. This was David Lasser. But, Hendricks said, Lasser hedge hopped from a $4,400 a year job to a $4,600 post with the WPB.

Hendricks specifically mentioned others on the Dies list, including Maurice Parmelee, a present $4,600 pay roller of the railroad retirement board, who, the congressman said, was fired from the board of economic warfare after his advocacy of nudism was disclosed last year.

RICHEST LABOR LOCAL ENGULFED IN MONEY MAZE

Portland, Ore., Feb. 4 [Special].—The world's richest and largest labor union local is so beset by internal legal difficulties these days that its officers find little respite even in their "marble palace" headquarters, which are so swanky that parts of it are considered too good for the common unionists who paid for it.

The local is No. 72 of the Boilermakers, Ironworkers, Shipbuilders, Welders, and Helpers union, many of whose 75,000 members are engaged in the Kaiser ship building program.

An accounting suit was brought by Russel Duke, a member, against Tommy Ray, former "back o' the yards" Chicagoan who is secretary-treasurer of the local. Annual collections are estimated at 3 million dollars.

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

Mrs. M. asks: "Is it possible to paste a snapshot in a "V" mail letter, so that a picture of the snapshot will be sent overseas with the letter?"

ANSWER: The instructions from the postoffice concerning the use of "V" mail state specifically that no inclosures may be sent in such mail. I doubt if a picture sent in that way would be acceptable or if it would reproduce.

Mrs. C. writes: "My husband is in the army, and I have a son in the navy. I am unable to work. I receive a $50 a month allotment, as my husband filed for it. Will I be entitled to receive an allotment from my son?"

ANSWER: Any man may send a voluntary allotment to a member of his family. However, if you are referring to a family allowance made up of contributions from the soldier and from the government, you will be eligible to receive one thru your son only if you can prove dependency as well as relationship. If, because of your health, the $50 which you receive thru your husband is not sufficient to maintain you, you might be able to receive a family allowance from your son. Cases such as yours are ruled upon individually, and your son can obtain full information at his present station.

Mrs. Y. writes: "My husband enlisted in the civilian pilot training program. He will go to school for eight weeks, during which time he will receive only board and room. Will I be eligible for a family allowance immediately, or must I wait until he has completed his eight weeks course?"

ANSWER: Your husband retains his civilian status until called to active duty by the service he plans to enter. Until that time, you cannot be considered eligible for a family allowance, and then only if he is in one of the four lowest pay grades.

Mrs. B. writes: "I am planning on leaving the city soon and would like to know where a notice should be sent in order that I may continue to receive my family allowance check. My husband is stationed in Texas, but my checks have been coming from Newark, N. J."

ANSWER: Write to the Office of Dependency Benefits, 213 Washington street, Newark, N. J. Be sure to include your husband's full name, rank, serial number, organization, and the number of your account, if you have it.

PEPPER ACCUSES ARMY, NAVY OF MEDDLING IN BILL

New Dealer Criticizes F. D. R. for Laxity.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Senate Democrats today became embroiled in a bitter debate over the conduct of the war on the home front and the handling of legislation to reorganize the domestic war administration, with civilians in sole control of man power, production, and procurement policies.

Sen. Claude Pepper.

Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] fiery New Dealer, bluntly accused the secretaries of war and navy of trying to influence the disposal in the senate of a bill to strip them of some powers. He charged that they were attempting to have the legislation to create a "war mobilization board" referred to a friendly committee, such as military affairs or naval affairs, instead of the committee on education and labor, which considered a similar bill at the last session.

Criticizes Roosevelt.

Pepper, a down-the-line administration supporter, even went so far as to criticize the President, saying he should have established a centralized organization over mobilization of resources and man power a long time ago.

The Floridian, heretofore frequently used as a White House spokesman in the senate, charged that progress of the war on the production front was "stymied for days" while the President was at Casablanca because there was no one with over-all authority on production to take over in the President's absence. The people are "sorely tired of seeing agencies of the government fighting each other," he declared.

"I make these constructive criticisms as a friend of the President," Pepper shouted.

Pepper and Senators Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], Harley M. Kilgore [D., W. Va.], and Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah] assailed a motion by Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the military affairs committee, to have the war mobilization bill, introduced by Kilgore and eight other senators, referred to his committee.

They declared it would be unprecedented procedure to take a bill away from a committee which considered it previously before they had completed such consideration and refer it to another committee, especially one so closely associated with the war department.

Fears Prejudicial Committee.

"We are talking about taking power away from the military and naval establishment in the public interest," declared Pepper, "and a committee not so intimately associated with the war and navy departments personally, philosophically and legislatively should consider this legislation."

He charged that the military and naval people did not want to yield any powers over supplies and procurement, as well as man power to civilians, whom, he contended, are better equipped to administer these programs.

The senate, however, voted down Pepper and approved the Reynolds motion, 39 to 28, sending the legislation to the military affairs committee.

The vote split party lines, 21 Democrats and 18 Republicans supporting the Reynolds motion, and 16 Democrats, 11 Republicans, and 1 Progressive opposing it. Both the Illinois senators, Wayland Brooks, Republican, and Scott W. Lucas, Democrat, supported the motion.

Fight Over Size of Army.

The fight on the senate floor brought to the forefront a vigorous behind the scenes struggle to get control over man power legislation and determination of the size of the army and navy. Five separate senate committees have been investigating the man power subject. There is great sentiment in congress for reduction of high army goals.

The war mobilization bill debated today would establish an office of war mobilization, with a director of war mobilization in supreme control.

Problem Child

ALICE FIGIEL.

The problem of a 14 year old girl who prefers dancing to high school was referred to the Juvenile court for solution yesterday by Judge Oscar F. Nelson of the Superior court after a brief hearing on the petition of the girl's father to take custody from the mother.

Principals were Alice Figiel, the girl; her mother, Mrs. Doris Figiel, 34, of 5231 Winthrop avenue, and her father, Martin Figiel, 37, of 3233 Pierce avenue. The Figiels were divorced in 1941, Mrs. Figiel receiving custody of Alice.

In court yesterday, Figiel, thru his lawyer, Arthur Young, petitioned for Alice's custody. He charged the girl had quit school and since had worked as a dancer in night clubs. He asked her custody to return her to school and give her a wholesome life. Mrs. Figiel's lawyer, Leo Segall, said the case is puzzling, that Alice altho 14 looks 20. In her own behalf, Alice said she preferred earning money by dancing to attending school.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A LIMIT TO LEND-LEASE.

While a frank narrative of what has happened in North Africa, in either the military or the political field, is still withheld from the American public, enough has seeped out to show that our troops have had the worst of the fighting in Tunisia.

Both the training and equipment of troops have bearing on their battle efficiency. It can be assumed that for the African expedition the best units of our army were selected, including, probably, those with the largest core of regulars. No amount of training, of course, can replace battle experience. The finer points of the fighting trade have to be learned the hard way, and the best material in the world finds the learning expensive.

But while training can be completed only on the battlefield, there is no excuse for sending our troops into combat without the best weapons that American industry can supply. That has not been done. Inferior tanks and insufficient aviation account to a large extent for want of success in Tunisia.

Some American units, when they went into Tunisia, had the outmoded Gen. Grant tanks, with their 75 mm. gun so mounted as to be of little use. These tanks are no match for the Nazi medium tank. Neither were the fighter planes with which the A. E. F. was equipped equal mechanically to the German planes.

A correspondent of Secretary Knox's own newspaper, Mr. Stoneman, has noted that only the skill of our pilots in Tunisia enabled them to meet the German fighter pilots. It is no secret to Hitler's command, he said, that all of our units were not fully equipped with our latest tanks when they arrived. He added that our commanders have now learned that we cannot fight tanks with troop carriers.

Good tanks and good planes were sent from the United States to the British 8th army in Egypt, contributing largely to that force's successful drive against Rommel. Good tanks and good planes have gone in the Murmansk convoys to Russia. Yet the needs of our own fighters have been slighted.

The only possible theory upon which the enormous cost of lend-lease can be justified is that by furnishing weapons to our allies our own man power will be spared some of its sacrifices in battle. The theory becomes farcical when American soldiers go into battle with inferior weapons.

This continued neglect of American interests and American soldiers must be checked abruptly. Congress must insist that lend-lease is not to start on any item until all American troops on active duty are fully equipped in that particular.

GOVERNMENT OF, BY, AND FOR LAME DUCKS.

This government of ours, as presently administered, has become a government of lame ducks, by lame ducks, and for lame ducks. As such, it may confidently be predicted, it will soon perish from the earth.

The north is again Republican, and overwhelmingly so. The south, tho still solidly Democratic, is anything but solid for the New Deal. The vote in the senate on the confirmation of Paving Block Ed Flynn's appointment tells the story. Nevertheless, Mr. Roosevelt chooses to disregard public opinion. The men who were rejected at the polls on Nov. 3 because they were New Dealers are being given handsome jobs as if they were popular idols. Thus Josh Lee, defeated for reelection to the senate, finds himself with a $10,000 a year salary as a member of the civil aeronautics board, a position to which he brings neither experience nor capacity. Mr. Roosevelt must suppose that this appointment will endear him to the people of Oklahoma, tho their votes indicated conclusively that they regard Josh as a leper.

Another lame duck, Sen. Wall Doxey of Mississippi, has been rewarded with the job of sergeant at arms of the senate at a salary of $8,000. Thomas H. Elliott, retired New Deal representative from Massachusetts, aged 35, is now OWI representative in London. Former Gov. Lehman of New York has been appointed chief almoner, and his 29 day successor, Charles Poletti, the friend of the Communist convicts, has landed a job in the war department. Congressman McKeough, whose senatorial ambitions were ended by the people of Illinois, is back on the pay roll.

And so it goes. Almost every one of these appointments has angered the voters, who thought they had rid the public service of these men. Indignation is rising. It can be confidently predicted that senators who vote confirmation of lame duck appointments are going to be remembered when next they run for office. They will do well to recall what happened to the senators who were so misguided as to vote for the seating of William Lorimer a generation ago. Mighty few of them survived the next election.

In this connection the vote of Mr. McNary of Oregon in support of Josh Lee is noteworthy. Only three Republicans lent their approval to this outrageous appointment, and Mr. McNary, tho Republican leader in the senate, was one of them. His conduct in the matter invites the question whether he has the moral and intellectual qualities required of the principal spokesman of his party in the senate.

LIFE RETRACTS.

Life magazine, Henry Robinson Luce's gift to the barber shops, has got around about two months late to apologizing to Indiana university, its faculty, students, and alumni. The university's student union had published a booklet on student etiquet. Life sent a photographer to the campus, ostensibly to pose students in the "dos" and "don'ts." When the photographs were published, they were all "don'ts," and the melange was represented as a true picture of how the Indiana student body, totally unaware that there is a war, goes about like campus cutups in a Hollywood version of student life.

The curious explanation was offered by Life that "a regrettable editorial misunderstanding resulted in an unfair interpretation of the pictures." This might happen on Life, which has 16 editors, but even so, it is hard to believe that the editor of a responsible publication would let it happen to him. The fairer presumption is that what Life found regrettable was that it had been caught in its fakery again—no new experience, be it said.

In fact, the Luce publications get into hot water so often only because the method natural to them is to resort to distortion and falsehood. Many of the falsehoods go unnoticed, because the circulation of the Luce papers is spread so thin everywhere, but now and then they are caught.

Many a mickle makes a muckle. In due time the Luce publications will be thoroly understood to be what they are—untrustworthy and malicious.

TIME TO RELEASE THE OLDER SOLDIERS.

The planting season is approaching in the southern states. The need for farm hands will be great. Now, certainly, is the time for congress to act fast and decisively to get men beyond combat age out of the army. Pledges have been given that those 38 and older would be released as soon as they could establish that jobs related to winning the war were waiting for them, but the Washington burocrats show every inclination to hang on to the older men in uniform as long as they can.

Since 1940 about 7 million physically fit men have been withdrawn from productive pursuits by the demands of the army and navy. No estimate has been provided as to how many of them now fall into the over-age category, but the number must be considerable. We know that a great many of these men have been called from the farms, which are suffering from their absence. They should be permitted to return as fast as possible in order that agriculture may yield the record harvests the government is asking.

These unparalleled food production goals would be difficult to attain even if there had been no diversion of farm labor because of war. For more than 20 years the nation's farm population has been declining. Between 1920 and 1940 the total population increased almost 26 million. In the same period the farm population declined by more than 1,050,000 persons. In 1920 the percentage of population on farms was 29.9. In 1940 it had decreased to 23.3 per cent.

Mr. Wickard, the secretary of agriculture, stated recently that during 1942, 2 million farm workers left the farms. Last December the nation's farm labor force totaled 8,900,000. This was a drop of only 100,000 in a year, despite the diversion of 2 million workers during 1942, but it must be assumed that the skilled hands that left were replaced by relatively unskilled farm labor, with a consequent drop in efficiency that the figures do not truly reflect.

Mr. Wickard is attempting to offset farm labor losses in a total draft call of 4,800,000 this year by recruiting a volunteer land army of 3½ million persons. Most of them will be women, unemployed, or white collar workers with no previous farming experience. If they are to prove reasonably efficient in their new calling, they must have expert supervision. That is an added reason for hastening the release of the many thousands of farm workers who are over-age but still held in the army.

These men are utterly unfit for modern war. If such a great athlete as Gene Tunney had to retire from the prize ring at 30, how farcical it is to keep non-athletes in the army for tasks that are much more arduous than the hardest kind of athletic competition. It is up to congress to liberate them and turn them back into assets of the nation.

THE DOCTOR TAKES HIS PEN IN HAND.

The other day our thirst for knowledge led us to a physician's manuscript, as yet unpublished, dealing with an obscure disease. The author provided us with what we venture to say is the choicest example of doctor's English to have been unfurled in 1943. We quote:

"In patients who were already ill or who were recovering from the affection, imbibition of liquor often would produce an exacerbation or a relapse, respectively."

We doubt that even a sociologist could outdo that sentence, respectively or otherwise.

Editorial of the Day

THE PARABLE OF AMOS GRANT.

[Omaha World-Herald.]

This community and the nation are indebted to Amos Grant of Omaha for a most illuminating parable—which happens to be the truth.

It might be called The Parable of the Earnest Citizen and Government Red Tape.

Mr. Grant, who is in business here, is a live stock grower. Last November scabies appeared in his herd, on 11 of some 600 animals. The indicated treatment was dipping. To set up the proper dipping equipment Mr. Grant needed three small valves which had been "frozen" by the government.

Mr. Grant applied to the local WPB. He was given a blank and told to send his application to Washington. Mr. Grant filled out the blank and mailed it. It was returned with the notation that application should have been made for each valve on a reparate sheet.

Mr. Grant filled out three sheets, wrote a long letter explaining his plight and the need for haste. These forms were returned to him because he had not set a definite date on which he would need the valves.

We shall not repeat more of the story here, except the conclusion. By the time the three valves—which weighed less than two pounds—were released 410 of the cattle had scabies and a number of them died. And this in a country which is struggling to overcome a food shortage.

No one, of course, wanted the scabies to spread or the cattle to die. It all happened because the administration, in this simple matter, got so tangled in red tape it could not move. Because no local official had enough authority to do the sensible thing.

The incident, relatively trivial in itself, tells volumes about the war program.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE LOST FACE OF NIPPON.

Let us consider the phrase, "loss of face," so frequently used with reference to eccentricities of Japanese behavior. It reflects the familiar fact that the Japanese, as a race, have a fantastic sense of personal and national dignity, and will lie like horse thieves to keep up appearances or avoid ridicule. This is a trait on which Nippon has no monopoly, no matter how long it has tried to corner the market. Face-saving is a universal habit.

* * *

The use of the word "face" with this meaning, whether the phrase refers to the losing or the saving of the aforesaid proud, personal possession, does not seem to be of Japanese origin. Webster's dictionary defines it without any hint of an oriental background, thus:

"The outward appearance or semblance of dignity or prestige; hence, dignity; prestige; as, to save or lose [one's] face; also, concern for or preservation of one's prestige; as, face as a factor in diplomatic negotiations."

* * *

Thus we seem to be dealing with a British idiom which has acquired an oriental veneer because it has been for some centuries an important matter in the relations between empire builders and native populations of the far east. Brewer's "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable," an English work, defines the word without mentioning the orient.

* * *

"Face" in Japan applies to many minor points of etiquet. Acquaintances who happen to meet in a public washroom will ignore each other's presence. An unexpected visit at a Japanese home will cause the host to withdraw, without greeting or apology. When dressed for the occasion, he will return and greet the guest with happy surprise.

* * *

American armchair strategists are fond of the notion that to save Honorable Face in military matters the Japs will eventually stick out Honorable Neck and so perish. Here's hoping.

THIS IS THE LAND.

This is the land that we name with affection—
America beautiful, stretching afar
From ocean to ocean. Here came to fruition
Freedom and largess of spirit. Here are Vineyard, and orchard, and pastures unending;
Herds without number, fields fertile for grain;
Here, wide sweep of forest and temperate seasons,
With ripening sunshine, bounty of rain.

Land of the broad skies, country that shelters,
Thine is the blessed lot ever to give
Hope to the human heart. Safe from oppression,
Loyal and grateful, here happily live
Men of all races. In hamlet and city,
In far-reaching valleys, by numberless streams,
Make they their homes and, in tolerance kindly,
Pursue their endeavors and follow their dreams.

Land of the friendly, unfortified borders,
Imbue us, thy people, with strength to endure
Shock and impact of the storms of the nations,
And wilt thou and must thou be ever secure
From tyranny's grasp. Strong, shining, triumphant,
Sustained by the aid we invoke from above,
Live, O, America! land of the happy homes,
Land of the great of heart, land that we love!

David B. Gibbs.

Take the Patient, Dr. Cutter.

Seriously, Mr. Linemaster, what is this insidious disease called "Line Fever"? How long does it last and what is the cure?

How does it happen that after reading the Line for years and being content to admire and enjoy the contributions of others you are suddenly seized with a wild desire to "make the Line." Immediately your whole life changes. You have a Purpose in Life, but of course you can't tell anybody, for if you fail—well, you'll die trying, anyway.

The ravages of the fever are not too apparent for the first week. Your friends think you've been on an awful tear and just don't want to talk about it. But then, if you happen to get your eyes in focus long enough to catch your reflection in a mirror, you are likely to turn around quickly to see what that thing is behind you. But it's you, all right, what's left of you. Haggard, hollow-eyed, and hungry looking [who can think of food!].

No wonder people have been eying you strangely. Nobody seems to want you around, and heaven knows you don't want anybody around, either, unless they are likely to drop some pearl of wisdom that you could use to make the Line, and where are there any people like that?

Please, Mr. Linemaster, how did I get it and what shall I do? Sally P. Dineen.

THE ROCK OF MALTA.

And Bonaparte the Knights of good St. John
Supplanted, weary years you've heard the fall
Of bombs unnumbered, raining on and on.
Amidst Il Duce's vaunted Latin lake,
A rampart of Old England's might you've been
In hour of darkest need, and now you take
Fresh courage as your friends draw near again.

As day by day the allied troops advance,
And friendly planes replace persistent foes,
And streets are freed from dreaded avalanche,
We wonder what such long-proved valor knows.
The children nightly stir in silence deep,
"O, Mother, it's so still I cannot sleep."

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

THE CONQUEST OF PERNICIOUS ANEMIA.

WITHIN the last dozen or so years, physicians have welcomed many new discoveries. A veritable rebirth has been accorded sufferers from a type of anemia hitherto considered fatal. Because it was so resistant to treatment it was called "pernicious." Today it is possible to assure these victims that strength can be restored and life preserved. We now know that the disease is due to a food deficiency—one that can be corrected with care and persistence.

As a rule, the afflicted one visits his doctor because of fatigue and loss of energy. These symptoms may come on so gradually that the illness is in full bloom before it is recognized. Neighbors and friends who see the patient occasionally will remark upon his pallor, ofttimes accompanied by a slight yellowing of the skin. But a hectic flush over the cheekbones may give rise to a false impression of good health.

When questioned closely the individual may relate that he has observed several abnormalities such as palpitation, shortness of breath on exertion, and dizziness after stooping or on rising from a prone position. Appetite may be average, altho soreness of the tongue may be exhibited. In fact, in a few instances, this will be the chief complaint. With others, tingling and numbness of the fingers and toes will be mentioned.

On examination, the tongue will look red and beefy. If nothing is done the papillae [tiny protuberances] will undergo shrinking. Now and then, marked indentations or even sores will appear along the edges.

As soon as the blood is checked the diagnosis will be clear. The red cells will be reduced in number and the hemoglobin [red coloring matter] will be low. The white cells will also be fewer than normal. If a thin layer of the fluid is examined under a microscope, characteristic changes in the corpuscles will be discovered.

What about the digestive tract? Here is the key to the whole situation. Free hydrochloric acid may be absent from the gastric juice, which means that certain elements necessary to the stimulation of the blood forming organs are lacking. Another missing link has to do with the liver. The feeding of animal liver extract or the tissue itself will be called for. In serious cases this material may be injected deep within the muscles.

When combined with hydrochloric acid, a state of affairs will be created which will allow new red cells to be born, enter the circulation, and carry on their functions of transporting oxygen. In a little while blood counts will show a steady and gradual rise, until a normal total is reached. In some patients the acid and liver will not be enough, and preparations of stomach lining will be required. If iron is inadequate it may be administered by mouth.

Now and then a blood transfusion will be demanded to tide over the interval until the remedies can take hold. We must recall that failures exist both in the liver and in the stomach, each of which must be supplied from outside sources. If treatment is given in time we need not fear injuries to the spinal cord—which may be evident should the disease be neglected.

NOT RHEUMATIC.

V. R. writes: For the last four years I have had rheumatic eyes. How can I get rid of them?

REPLY.

Any watery or catarrhal discharge is called "rheum." A skilled eye specialist may be needed to combat conjunctivitis or granulated lids.

RELATED.

D. S. writes: Is there any connection betwen anemia and a heart murmur?

REPLY.

When the blood loses important constituents, a functional murmur may be heard. The sound will disappear as the vital fluid returns to normal.

MORE RESEARCH NEEDED.

Mrs. B. writes: Can children be immunized against infantile paralysis?

REPLY.

MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD?

Watseka, Ill., Feb. 2.—The burocrats plan to spend 60 million dollars of the taxpayers' money in 1943 for printing propaganda of one sort or another, most of it designed, probably, to make us all better Socialists. Translated into terms of war bonds, this means that 3,200,000 wage earners will each have to put out $18.75 for a bond to provide funds for this one item, which is chicken feed compared with the total expense of maintaining our army of swivel chair wizards. The same sum of money would put 240 Flying Fortresses in the air.

The philosophy that the pen is mightier than the sword seems to dominate the thinking of the crackpots who are governing the people by decree. There is only one way to kill a burocrat and that is to starve him to death. He can't function without money and congress alone has the power to dip into the pockets of the people and provide it. When will the representatives of the people begin to do some representing and stop this waste? When will the people of America wake up and begin to tell their representatives what they think about it?

AUSTIN MOSHER.

A SOLDIER'S BELIEFS.

Camp Shelby, Miss., Jan. 31.—All of the men in my outfit read THE TRIBUNE and they also feel that THE TRIBUNE is for them. We get the Trib a day late, but it is such a privilege to read a paper that is standing up for our rights while we are away from home fighting. We cannot get home to voice our disapproval or approval of our government's activities, and we know that THE TRIBUNE is standing up for our beliefs while we win this war. Keep up the good work, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. We place our trust in you and we know that you won't let us down. We'll be back soon and when we do you can be sure that Washington will get a thoro house cleaning. PVT. D.

WHITE COLLAR FARMERS.

Benton, Ill., Jan. 29. — The Wickard-McNutt plan to have city white collar workers volunteer to go to the farms and work at 30c an hour, while most of their friends are working for $1 or more an hour at some war plant, is simply not going to work out, and these eminent gentlemen had better start to figure out something else. The best idea is to grant extended furloughs to the farmer boys now in the army who have had their basic training, so they can come back home and can do the job well on the farm. S. M. WARD.

TAX ASSISTANCE.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—It was a cold, windy morning, the first week of December, and I was on my way to work, all bundled up with great big awkward mittens on, and my income tax payment in my hands. I looked down, and it was gone. Where? I could not find it. But some one did and mailed it in for me and I wish to thank the person who found it and sent it in. MAYE SMITH.

HE SOLD HIS.

Beardstown, Ill., Jan. 30.—So the New Deal is allowing 20 cents for serviceable tires. Well, they fooled me a number of times, so I fooled them in disposing of my extra tires. I sold four extra tires in fairly good condition to private individuals and received $27 for them. I could see the handwriting on the wall and guarded against same. BILL BRIGHT.

CABBIE'S RETORT.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—As a cab driver here in Chicago I would like to reply to the griping of some people against us.

For instance: "They want only the short trips, which is the cream of the business." People who must make long trips must realize that it is unpatriotic, it takes a cab out of service for a period when several persons may be served.

Or they say: "You are licensed to serve the public and we are willing to pay the fare." In this war time the public cannot buy a great deal of things that dealers are licensed to sell, and with the shortage of cab drivers and limit on their mileage, sacrifices must be made. The tire administrator makes the cab companies cut their mileage, the city administration compels the driver to take all trips, and the driver is left holding the bag.

There is no waiting list for the cab driver's job. I am in a 1-A classification for the draft and no other employment is open to me. F. LESLIE.

THE WOMEN'S REGISTRATION BILL.

Buda, Ill., Jan. 28.—The letter of Mrs. Marguerite Cummings today convinces me that there are many, many women, and no doubt a lot of sensible men, who are agreed on the undesirability of passing a bill for registering and drafting women. Compulsory conscription of American women is a vile thing and in my opinion the national compulsory registration is the first step in that direction.

I have written Rep. Clark Baldwin of New York, the author of this bill, in protest, recalling that in 1917 and '18, when I was chairman of the council of national defense in Macon township, Bureau county, I registered all but a very few women in this township—voluntarily, mind you. Had they been asked to do more and harder war work, they would have done it. We can expect that they would respond again without any compulsion if they were really needed.

MRS. HENRY POPP.

WORK OR FIGHT.

Skokie, Ill., Feb. 2.—Today's papers report action by the selective service board abolishing dependency as grounds for deferment, and thereby placing a premium on work in an essential industry. If a citizen must work or fight, will some one explain why workers should not be paid exactly as much as service men? In other words, why place a premium on draft dodging by paying single men ridiculously high wages while a married man may have to support a family on a private's wages and allotments?

JOHN A. ANDERSON.

IT'S A BETTER 'OLE.

Mauston, Wis., Feb. 1.—Why are actors in uniform strutting around in the movie colony making pictures? Why aren't they in training camps with the rest of our boys? Y.

HOMES IN VACANT STORES.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—There is a serious shortage of homes and apartments in Chicago. On the other hand, there are very many vacant stores. The owners of the buildings containing these vacant stores are compelled to pay high taxes on buildings from which they receive little or no income.

These stores could be converted into homes if the government would permit the owners to purchase the material required to make the alterations, including gas heaters for the unheated stores. This would help out both the owner and tenant. While we admit that these homes may not be as modern as the homes we have had in the past, we are getting accustomed to doing without many other luxuries. The stores are usually located near excellent transportation, which, in these days of gas rationing, make up for some of the conveniences we may miss. MRS. PRACTICAL.

HAS "L" SPARE CARS?

Chicago, Jan. 22.—In reply to a letter in which I complimented the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad for the excellent accommodations afforded their passengers, Mr. Bernard J. Fallon, executive officer, made the following explanation in part:

"We regret that it is impossible to furnish the accommodations to our passengers that we would like to furnish, but we, like all other transportation agencies during the present war conditions, are unable to obtain additional cars."

It would seem to me that as this road has been able to rent the tracks of the Rapid Transit company for a number of years, it should be in a position to negotiate for the rental of some of the vast number of Rapid Transit cars noticed standing idle in all of their terminals.

T. C. FETROW.

ORIGIN OF THE WHEREWITHAL.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 26.—We are the only people in all the world who have anything to give or lend. May those in office learn, and quickly, too, that we didn't get that way by dictating to the people what they could do or how much money they could make doing it.

BUY FEED EARLY FOR LIVE STOCK, FARMERS URGED

Producers Called Upon to Increase Output.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

The live stock producers have become the center of attention in the nation's drive to produce enough food to care for the army and navy, the civilians at home, and the allied forces.

From every official and unofficial source has come a flood of ideas and suggestions in an effort to help the live stock raiser increase his output and meet this year's astronomical goals. State agricultural colleges are printing and distributing thousands of new circulars aimed at introducing the farmer to new short cuts to greater production. Feed wholesalers and local dealers also are giving the farmer the benefit of their latest information.

Out of this welter of advice a good deal may be gleaned that will help the farmer adjust himself to the new conditions he will be working under when he goes into his fields this spring.

More May Be Required.

To live stock producers the experts say, "Plan your feed supply now." Feed will be scarce in some areas and prices may go up, they claim. Difficulties in marketing stock next winter may make it necessary to hold the animals longer, requiring more feed than usual.

Possible delays in transportation of grain make it advisable to make early purchases of corn or other grains that will be needed. Adjustment in cropping plans will be necessary to supply some of the feeds that will not be obtainable thru dealers.

Agricultural authorities urge farmers to calculate their feed requirements immediately, and plan their planting to meet the demand. A feeder steer in the feedlot waiting for a 500 pound gain will need approximately 55 bushels of corn, 225 pounds of supplement, and three-fourths of a ton of hay during the year.

Silage Cuts Grain Needs.

A cow producing 6,000 pounds of milk a year will eat roughly 25 bushels of corn, 28 bushels of oats, 200 pounds of supplement, and 2½ tons of hay. If 3 tons of silage are fed the corn can be cut to 15 bushels, the oats to 23 bushels, the supplement increased to 300 pounds, the hay reduced to 1¾ tons.

Horses more than 2 years old will need 20 bushels of corn, 35 bushels of oats, and 2½ tons of hay during the year. Spring pigs carried to 225 pounds each will need 15 bushels of corn, 2 bushels of oats, and 70 pounds of supplement.

If there are 100 laying hens in the flock, the farmer should plan on using 55 bushels of corn, 72 bushels of oats, 1,350 pounds of supplement and 38 bushels of wheat.

The live stock outlook is good for the farmer this year, the colleges say. Consumer incomes will be high, it is predicted, the farmer will get good prices for his live stock and live stock products, there will be large lend-lease purchases, and the farmer will be in the best condition he has for a long time.

FLYNN DEFENSE HINTS PEGGY IS OLDER THAN 16

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 4 (AP).—The defense, switching tactics in its closing argument against the conviction of Errol Flynn on two charges of statutory rape, suggested today that Peggy La Rue Satterlee, who accuses the actor of seduction, may in fact be older than the 16 years she claims.

"Her birth certificate says she is 16 years of age," said Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler in concluding his summation, "but this may be outweighed by other evidence."

Giesler cited her application for a driver's license a year ago, in which he said she gave her age as 18. He mentioned also her applications for various jobs, in which she listed herself sometimes as 18 and sometimes as 21.

"If you convict the defendant you must accept the testimony of Miss Satterlee herself," Giesler said.

Flynn is charged with seducing Miss Satterlee aboard his yacht on a cruise to Catalina Island, and with a similar offense against Betty Hansen, former Nebraska schoolgirl, at a dinner party. The jury probably will be instructed sometime tomorrow, and retire for deliberations.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. S. Solmon, 5536 Ingleside avenue.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

Children's Memorial hospital, 707 Fullerton avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

Ronald Croucher, 7 years old, 5658 Ridge avenue—As soon as I came home from school I would run into the kitchen to see what was cooking. That way I'd know what we were going to have. Here I never know what it's going to be and every meal brought on a tray is a complete surprise.

Susan Wahlin, 4 years old, 1808 Juneway terrace — This is the first time in my life that I can remember where my parents got all dressed up to go calling on me. I like the idea of having them visit me. They can't come so very often, but when they do it seems like a real big occasion.

James L. Collins, 12 years old, 33 Menomonee street—When I'm home I usually don't get out of school early enough to eat between meals. Here I'm on a regular schedule and each morning and afternoon I'm permitted to have something and nobody seems to worry about it spoiling my appetite.

Dolores Suchan, 9 years old, 1451 North Talman avenue—Some of the entertainment in the hospital has been pretty fine. The first real Indian chief I ever saw in my life was here to entertain us and we were all pretty thrilled. We've had some good color movies brought here and shown on the wall.

Dale Alber, 9 years old, 3752 North Damen avenue—A little two weeks' vacation from school at this time has been most welcome. I haven't been so very sick so I can truthfully say I've enjoyed the change. It has also given me enough spare time to work on some original poetry of my own.

Marilyn Kassal, 10 years old, 409 North 9th avenue, Maywood—I think it's lots of fun to be surrounded by nurses all the time. They do all kinds of little things for me that I always wished some one else would do. It almost makes me feel like a movie star with a bunch of personal maids.

DECLARE PRICE METHODS POINT TO FOOD CRISIS

Hold U. S. Actions Conflict with Congress' Aim.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—A serious food shortage was predicted today by Rep. Victor Wickersham [D., Okla.] at a meeting of the house agriculture committee, and department of agriculture price determining methods were denounced as not being in accordance with the will of congress.

Wickersham told the group, concerned primarily over differentials established for grapefruit produced in different sections, that farmer resistance to the department's price setting policies, coupled with labor and machinery shortages, would cut food production this year to 80 per cent of normal.

Warns of Major Shortage.

Austin E. Anson, executive manager of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers, Weslaco, Tex., told the committee:

"You are going to be faced with the damnedest shortage of food in the next six months if something isn't done."

Chairman Hampton P. Fulmer [D., S. C.] of the agriculture committee called the agriculture department's interpretation of the anti-inflation law in its price determination "just highway robbery" in its effect on the farmers.

"Let's repeal the law," suggested Rep. William S. Hill [R., Colo.].

"If you don't want a food shortage you'd better repeal it," said Rep. Milton H. West [D., Tex.].

The congressmen questioned O. W. Wells statistician for the bureau of agricultural economics, as to why, they said, an average price was used in calculating ceiling prices for such commodities as grapefruit when the law required that the highest price be used as the ceiling price.

Claims Industry's O. K.

The statistician said that the highest and lowest prices had been averaged, with adjustment for seasonal differences, and that the department's calculation, even tho establishing a lower differential for grapefruit grown in Texas, against that grown in Florida, was in line with recommendations of the citrus industry.

West declared the growers had agreed to differentials for citrus products of different states, but not to any definite price, and added that Texas grapefruit was set at $2.18 a box, while Florida grapefruit of comparable grade could bring $2.94 a box. He added:

"The differentials can't be justified in any way. I charge they [the department of agriculture] have clearly violated the law."

ALIEN RAIDING OF U. S. BUTTER UPHELD BY CIO

Badgers Resent Oleo Substitution.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4 [Special].—Two joint legislative resolutions petitioning congress to halt and restrict shipment of butter to Russia and other lend-lease nations were aired in a committee hearing this afternoon before members of the state senate agriculture and labor group. Spokesmen for a Wisconsin CIO affiliate and a religious organization were the chief objectors to the petitions.

Sen. John E. Cashman [P., Denmark], operator of a 200 acre farm and author of one of the resolutions, told the committee that "we want, first of all, for our fighting boys to be fed, then come our own people and the little children."

For Yanks and Home Folks.

He charged that the "morale" of farmers has been weakened by federal agricultural actions and that the "boys at the front must be taken care of, even tho the home folks may have to go on a limited butter supply."

Cashman, bitter foe of the "butter substitute" industry, declared his farm produces 12,000 to 19,000 pounds of milk a month. "I produce that milk," he said, "for the home people, and for our troops."

His resolution petitioned congress to "enact necessary legislation to halt shipments of butter by lend-lease or other channels to our allies and to maintain the health and morale of the American people by retaining American butter supplies for the American armed forces."

Cashman's petition pointed out that American butter production in 1942 was "only 1,869,106,000 pounds, which was 5 per cent below the previous year. He estimated butter production in 1943 will be only 1,765,000,000 pounds." New government freezing regulations, he added, will take 30 per cent, or 503,000,000 pounds, of our national butter output. Approximately 335,000,000 pounds of butter, Cashman said, will be consumed by our armed forces. The resolution added:

Protests Lend-Lease.

"We especially protest the proposed lend-lease shipments of 130,000,000 pounds of butter to Russia during 1943. This alone will further decrease the availability of butter by more than one pound per capita. It is plainly evident that such plans that will further deprive our own people of butter, by exporting supplies that are already dangerously short, is detrimental to the health and morale of America and is a plain effort to play into the hands of the few who are interested in expanding the market for butter substitutes."

Opposition to the petitions were voiced by A. T. Wallace, Madison, representing the social relations committee of the Wisconsin council of churches; Mrs. Josephine Norstrand, Milwaukee, of the Wisconsin conference on social legislation, and Roy Spath, Milwaukee, president of the United Auto Workers, a CIO affiliate.

This Spring,

be yourself, be classic

These are the clothes that most truly express your indomitable spirit. They're the cream of good fabrics, good lines—quality clothes for the quality that is you. They scorn the fussy as you scorn idle tea parties, days when there are bandages to be rolled. Here today, here tomorrow—they're not a new way of life but old friends, welcome because of their stability, their sturdiness. You have less time to care for clothes—these require less time. You are harder on your clothes because you're leading a more active life—these can take it. Their beauty lies in a trim simplicity that is the only way you want to look during daytime hours this spring.

5 POLICE SQUADS HUNT COAT THIEF AS CAREY KILLER

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan yesterday assigned five squads from north side police stations to concentrate on the search for the fur coat thief believed responsible for the murder of Miss Estelle Carey, ex-model and dice girl, in her apartment at 512 Addison street Tuesday afternoon.

Chief Sullivan said his records showed that nearly 50 fur coats have been stolen from north side homes and apartments in the last four months. Two coats, a mink and a sable, were stolen from Miss Carey's flat, and a woman resident of the building reported seeing a man fleeing with two coats over his arm at about the time of the murder.

Former Convict Sought.

Yesterday police found another woman witness who saw a man near the building carrying two coats. This witness tentatively identified a picture of an ex-convict as that of the man she saw. Police were seeking the suspect, who has a record as a specialist in apartment burglaries.

In swinging to the theory that robbery was the motive for the crime, Chief Sullivan said he was influenced by the fact that the killer used a blackjack—the typical weapon of a criminal who wants to avoid murder. In this case, the chief added, Miss Carey obviously put up a desperate fight before she was knocked unconscious, and her assailant may have set her clothing afire because he was panicky.

Known as Cool Gambler.

In her days as a dice girl at the Colony club, 744 Rush street, and at other night clubs, Miss Carey was known as the coolest woman gambler in town. Veterans of the night club belt said that on occasions, when she was absent from the "26" game table and a big time gambler wanted to play, the girl at the table would excuse herself and call Miss Carey.

A game where thousands of dollars changed hands was not uncommon in those days, the police were told. They believed she faced her last gamble, for her life, with cool courage, refusing to the last to reveal where she kept her jewelry. This was found safe after the murder, in a compartment of a shoe bag.

TOUHY INQUIRY IN WILL COUNTY NEARING CLIMAX

State's Attorney James E. Burke of Will county said yesterday he would complete today his investigation of the escape of the Touhy gang from Stateville prison and that the Will county grand jury was expected to take immediate action. The gang led by Roger Touhy and Basil Banghart fled from the prison last October and was rounded up last Dec. 28 by federal bureau of investigation agents who killed two of the gang.

Casimer Darlak, brother of Edward Darlak, one of those who escaped and was caught, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edgar H. Johnson on a charge of aiding in the escape. His bond was set at $20,000. Casimer Darlak is accused of supplying revolvers to the Touhy gang.

Meanwhile, in Chicago, FBI agents turned over to Clerk Roy H. Johnson of federal District court $13,605 captured with the gang. The money will be held pending disposition of claims.

STEAL LOAD OF AUTO PARTS.

SHERIFF TELLS OF MIXUPS IN PUCKETT STORY

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 4 [Special].—An apparent discrepancy in the story told by Will R. Puckett in the slaying of his mail order bride was related to the jury at his murder trial today by Sheriff F. Earl Staley of Tippecanoe county.

The sheriff testified that following the tragedy last Nov. 6 he accompanied Puckett over the same route the elderly couple had taken. He said he asked Puckett to point out the spot where a hitch-hiker the defendant asserts killed his wife, had been standing when thumbing a ride.

Puckett pointed to a place on the opposite side of the road from that on which the Puckett car was proceeding, the sheriff said. The state is expected to show that it would be exceedingly unusual for a hitch-hiker not to stand on the side of the road closest to the cars in which he hoped to get a ride.

NEW FOOD EDICTS TO BE ENFORCED, DEALERS WARNED

Butter and Bread Orders Must Be Obeyed.

Enforcement of food distribution orders issued recently by Food Administrator Claude R. Wickard will be pressed vigorously after the business people affected have been acquainted with the regulations, Earl O. Pollock, regional administrator of the food distribution administration for the Great Lakes region, said yesterday.

Restrictions on bakers and butter dealers already have changed consumer eating habits, with the ban on bread slicing and the requirement effective Monday that butter producers and dealers earmark at least 30 per cent each month for government purchasers.

Expect Compliance.

Pollock said he anticipates general compliance with Wickard's orders. He said each industrial group affected by the orders is represented by an advisory committee which the FDA consults on all problems.

"There is little excuse for bakers, milk distributors, ice cream manufacturers, butter manufacturers, and others to whom the orders apply not to know about them," he said.

"Food processors and distributors who carry on business contrary to the provisions of the orders on the assumption that they need not comply until they receive copies thru the mail are operating in direct violation of such orders. They will be investigated, and, if found guilty, will be subject to penalties prescribed in the orders."

Stop Maldistribution.

Pollock reported that the food industry committees created in the region and in component areas have been functioning effectively in relieving maldistribution of foods in certain communities. He said that a shortage of evaporated milk in Peoria, Ill., was reported by a wholesale grocer there and was discussed by the Peoria food committee. A few days later 2,900 cases of milk were shipped by two large processors.

FDA investigators reported they have not encountered any violations of the order curtailing butter supplies for civilians, but have found some instances where bakers are continuing to slice bread, are preparing an excessive variety of bakery goods, or are not adhering to the vitamin and mineral enrichment standards. A full fledged compliance drive is expected in the bakery and butter industries in 60 days.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Letter to the Boss.

"Dear Boss: Well, you haven't heard from me for quite a while, but we've been so busy with annual reports I've had a case of typewriter's cramp. Anyway, things have been running smoothly. I guess the new year, like a new broom, sweeps clean for a time. In fact, everything was hotsy-totsy until that slip in our last pay envelopes calling attention to the absenteeism in our company. Really, Boss, that was awful! It had the tone of a note sent home from school by teacher!

"If, as you say, the rate of absenteeism is higher among women than men and ours is so high that we need to be reminded of the importance of being at our desks except when we are sick—why, then, couldn't it be mixed with a little patriotism? After all, we are engaged in war production.

"How would a poster do in red, white, and blue with something like this in big letters:

"'WE ARE AT WAR. THIS COMPANY FURNISHES VITAL WAR MATERIALS. YOU ARE PART OF THIS COMPANY. IF YOU WERE ONE OF A COMPANY OF SOLDIERS YOU WOULD BE EXPECTED TO SERVE YOUR COUNTRY UNDER FIRE.

"'EVERY DAY THAT YOU ARE NOT AT YOUR DESK, EXCEPT IN CASE OF ILLNESS, YOU ARE A. W. O. L. FOR, THO YOU HEAR NO COMMANDS: 'COMPANY, FORWARD MARCH,' IT IS YOUR DUTY TO BE AT YOUR POST EVERY DAY.'

"Possibly some of us haven't thought of our jobs in terms of our brothers, or friends, or sweethearts in service. This reminder won't hurt us. And, maybe—just maybe—it will have some effect upon that absentee rate.—ME."

Feminine First.

Margaret G. Bondfield, in Chicago this week, was the first British woman cabinet member. She was one of a family of 11 and a school teacher when she was 13. Two years later she went to work in a shop at Brighton and for 11 years was a shop assistant in London before beginning her career as a champion of labor. At 68 she is the only woman member of the privy council.

Ruth Stone, chief of women's placement for Western Electric company, speaking at an evening meeting of personnel officers and saying with a smile that "women and women's problems are not new to us—we've had 13,000 women in our company." . . . Urge Training Handicapped for War Work

Four million unemployed handicapped persons thruout the United States, with an average of approximately 210,000 in Illinois, could be placed in industry with the proper training to relieve the man power shortage, a survey by a special committee on war jobs for the handicapped revealed here yesterday.

The committee, made up of educators and specialists in the field of handicapped persons, is a subcommittee of the women's executive committee of the state office of public instruction. It met yesterday under the chairman of J. Roy Byerley, director of education for the office of public instruction, in the Merchants and Manufacturers club at the Merchandise Mart.

"This committee is seeking information concerning the extent of the handicapped in Illinois and the jobs in which they may be placed," Mr. Byerley explained. "Within the next 30 days we hope to be able to place the information in the hands of the schools thruout the state. The load of the handicapped is increasing because of the war, and anything we can do will be of great value after the war is over."

When completed, Mr. Byerley said, the survey will include a bibliography of the organizations working directly in aiding the handicapped, a list of various types of handicapped persons and the jobs which may or are being satisfactorily performed by them, case histories of the handicapped who have made satisfactory vocational advancements, and a report on the development of plans and methods of coöperation among schools, organizations aiding the handicapped, and prospective employers.

Church Activities

When Chicago was young St. James Catholic church, 29th street and Wabash avenue, was one of the city's most flourishing churches. Many of the city's notable personages were nourished in it while it mothered nearly all the Catholic churches of the south side.

On Sunday morning the three score years of the old landmark edifice's existence will be marked by a jubilee mass, and many of its former members, now scattered thruout the city and state, will return for the jubilee. The congregation was founded nearly 90 years ago and from its numbers have come bishops, priests, doctors, lawyers, editors, and business men. Old St. James' high altar is "a privileged altar," and the church is one of the very few consecrated Catholic edifices in the city. The Rev. Harold Kenny will offer the solemn mass at 10:30 o'clock. He will be assisted by the Revs. Eugene Sullivan and William Cousins. The Rev. Henry McGuire will be the anniversary preacher.

The building fund will be invested in war bonds, and the church will be erected after the war. Joseph E. Newton, Chicago lawyer, headed a fund raising organization of 50 workers who collected the money.

Miracles—of Dunkirk, of Guadalcanal, of Gen. MacArthur's escape from Bataan, of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's sea swallow, and of Malta—will be subjects of a series of Sunday night sermons by the Rev. Roland J. Brown of Parkside Baptist church, 69th place and Harper avenue, beginning Sunday.

SCIENCE DISCOVERS VITAMIN B_1 NECESSARY TO HELP TRANSFORM BREAD INTO ENERGY

The Hidden Energy In Bread Is Unlocked By Vitamin B_1 To Give You The Energy You Need

Yet Of The Millions Who Rely Upon Bread For Up To 35% Of Their Daily Energy—3 Out Of 4 Fail To Get A Good Diet, U. S. Officials Say. Thus, Can Fail To Get Enough Vitamin B_1

New Wonder Bread Thrills Thousands Everywhere Because:
(1) Contains Vitamin B_1 (2) Slo-Baked For Lasting Freshness
(3) Tastes Better (4) Proves Easier-To-Slice

WHAT everybody knows is that millions of people rely upon bread for up to 35% of their daily energy.

But what you may not know is that you must have Vitamin B_1 to help transform the bread you eat into the energy you need.

Now—according to U. S. Government Health Officials, 3 out of 4 people fail to get a good diet; thus can fail to get enough Vitamin B_1 naturally.

This does not mean that you lack Vitamin B_1 so badly the bread you eat does you no good. But it does mean that your body cannot properly transform bread into the energy you must have these days unless you get sufficient Vitamin B_1.

A New Kind Of Bread

Now, wise Mother Nature put Vitamin B_1 into wheat. But—in making bread whiter—man took it out.

Then Theodore Earle patented a way to retain more natural vitamins and minerals in flour.

And mass production by American industry made possible further additions of the Vitamin B_1 needed in the bread. A bread now better for flavor and better for health than before.

It's Doubly Fresh

Dobbin Makes Comeback at Pinehurst, N. C.

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGOANS who have wondered how the east coast ban on pleasure driving would affect their favorite vacation spots may relax in the case of Pinehurst, N. C. At the southern resort activity is going on as usual with the aid of surries, tallyhos, and smart victorias with brass lanterns, which are being employed for pleasure driving and transportation along the pine-edged roads. The return of the old-fashioned buggies delights the old timers and the young set alike, and every Sunday, our correspondent reports, all horse-drawn vehicles are engaged well in advance.

Golf tournaments still are held at the Pinehurst Country club, which is within easy walking distance of the village and of Pinehurst's hotels—the Carolina, Holly inn, Pine Crest, the Manor, and the Berkshire. Far more popular, however, are the leisurely foresomes made up of executives on "refresher" furloughs from war work in New York and Washington.

The Robert D. Forgans of Highland Park always will consider Pinehurst their favorite resort, for they met there 40 years ago. This year they went down ahead of the season. Their son, Robert Jr., is a lieutenant in the army, stationed in Utah, and one of their sons-in-law, Lt. [j. g.] Philip D. Allen, is serving with the navy at Great Lakes.

The Simeon B. Chapins opened their Pinehurst home, Albemarle cottage, some time ago, and will be there until they return to Chicago in May. Mrs. Chapin recently was in New York. Stuart cottage at Pinehurst also is owned by a Chicagoan, Mrs. Robert Stuart, who arrived there recently.

Plans for Two Weddings in West Are of Interest.

Two weddings that normally would be held in the Chicago suburbs except for war time complications will take members of the Edgerton A. Throckmorton, Erskine Phelps Wilder, and Marc A. Law families to the state of Washington next week.

By long distance telephone Miss Caryl Casselberry and Lt. Erskine Phelps Wilder Jr. have decided to be married on Feb. 16 in Spokane, near Lt. Wilder's army air corps post at Walla Walla. Miss Casselberry and her mother, Mrs. Throckmorton, and her fiancé's mother plan to leave for the west next Friday or Saturday. "Sandy" Wilder, who became engaged to Miss Casselberry during the Christmas holidays, has been promised a seven day leave from his duties, which should give them a brief wedding trip.

Mrs. Law and her daughter, Mary Louise, will be leaving on Sunday for Seattle, where Miss Law and Ensign William Richard Goodier, U. S. N. R., are to be married on Feb. 13. Miss Law, whose parents live in Highland Park, was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school. She and her fiancé met at the University of Wisconsin, of which they both are graduates. Ensign Goodier is the son of Harvey T. Goodier, American consul at Fort William, Ont., and Mrs. Goodier. He received his commission at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., and was stationed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at Harvard before reporting for duty in Seattle.

Thru the Looking Glass

There is no reason why a woman shouldn't dye her hair if she wants to. The notion that no respectable woman would resort to it went out a long time ago. But there are reasons why women should weigh the matter well before they decide to make any radical change in hair color.

First of all, they should remember that there are subtle changes in skin coloring as well as hair shade as they get older. The lovely golden tone that was so flattering when Sally was a girl isn't quite so harmonious with her skin when Sally is a middle aged woman. Chances are that the changes nature makes as the years roll up are right in step with the changes in the textures and the tone of her skin.

Then, when one begins to dye hair one starts on a treadmill. Stopping is an awkward business, and the task of getting the shade exactly right time after time for years on end is an uncertain one. A change of operators, or an infinitesimal variation in the operator's use of her supplies may make a dye look quite different from one application to another. If you're ever ill and unable to get to the beauty shop you'll have an extra bit of misery you hadn't counted on.

There is also the expense to consider. Don't attempt it unless you can patronize a good shop, and have your dye application just as often as you need it.

Consider all these things well before you dye your hair. If you're determined that you'll do it, go ahead. But don't attempt to do it yourself, and don't think for one minute that any but the best operator you can find will offer you a bargain. Be prepared to pay for skill, good preparations, and a lot of the operator's time. Hair dyeing, properly done, is a specialty.

This young and gay spring suit is ready for immediate wear under a fur coat or with a new fabric top coat of contrasting shade. The gored skirt accents the fitted jacket, made with slanting side pockets and bright red lapels. Collar and buttons are of black and the tailored shirtwaist is of white to repeat the gloves and white pill box hat. The suit and accessories are available in a Chicago store.

An Old Favorite in Checks Given Fashion Revival

BY REA SEEGER.

Spic and span shepherd checks are stealing the spotlight from the spring parade of navy blue and other colors. No matter how many times fashion stresses precision checks in black and white, navy and white, or dark brown and white, such checks always seem brand new and fascinating. Streamlined suits of this small, precise pattern somehow don't seem so sternly tailored as do solid blues, chalk stripes, or stone gray flannels. They also look young and gay compared with wilted winter coats of fur, or of fabric loaded down with fur.

Shepherd checked suits are ideal to make topcoats of fabric, also tailored simply, more impressive. The contrasts of green, oxford gray, cinnamon, gold, yellow, and bright red are exciting with the checked suits. Accessories also provide a new accent for these checks. They include all white hats, dizzy tho they may seem to an unappreciative spectator, and smooth, white gloves. Patent leather accessories, hat, belt, bag, and foot gear, are other gleaming accents particularly effective with the checked suits and costumes.

Many of the newest suits use the checks for both skirt and matching jacket. The jacket is attractive with dark, monotone skirts or the checked skirts. Many smart new costumes feature the checked material. Tiny sailor hats, bows of taffeta to tie under the chin, gloves, buttons, blouses, and petticoats are of this old time favorite material, revived each season with spectacular fashion results.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

Mr. Bryan and Vitamins.

[From Emeline O. D.]

It was the summer of 1918, and the railway dining room in Asheville, N. C., buzzed and chattered thru the noon hour. Suddenly sound and movement diminished and stopped as the soldiers paused, forks in midair, to stare at the doorway.

There, glancing leisurely about, stood William Jennings Bryan. Then, hitching a newspaper bundle more snugly under his arm, he wove his way in and out among the tables. Many tables were filled with privates, but the Great Commoner passed up countless vacancies at these to reach the only table boasting officers. Laying his parcel upon the officers' table, he withdrew a chair and said, "With your leave, gentlemen, I will sit here."

Thereupon he ordered a sandwich and drink. When this had been placed before him, he opened his parcel and extended it. "Gentlemen," he said, "help yourselves to onions and radishes from my garden. It is my habit these days to supplement my restaurant meals with home grown produce."

Small Fry.

Mrs. N. H. Motsinger relays the story of two small brothers going to school during the icy weather. One slipped and fell down, and was unconscious and quite badly injured when found later. When his brother was asked why he had not stayed and helped him or called for aid, he replied thoughtfully, "I thought he was dead, anyway, and I didn't want to be late for school."

To My Valentine.

Frances Mary Hughes sends from Tampa this wistful bit of near-seasonal sentiment from the brain of an anonymous Florida lover:

I'm all alone, like Crusoe
On his island in the sea.
I wish I were a Q, so
U would follow me.

It's a Tough War.

John W. Steger, one of Chicago's best sports camera men and now a lieutenant with the army motion picture unit, writes from Hollywood that his unit uses the old Hal Roach lot as a post; nonetheless, the "Dead End" boys are making a movie there now. The army lunches at M-G-M where, he writes, one "bumps over guys like Mickey Rooney, Lloyd Nolan, and other characters." One day Lt. Clark Gable sauntered in on a busman's holiday. But his choicest vignette is of the set where the actors, having just finished lunch, were about to go back to work. Just then an assistant camera man yelled, "Digest your food quietly; we are going to start shooting."

BY CECIL SMITH.

In "Iolanthe," W. S. Gilbert was dealing with a ticklish subject indeed, for he was poking fun at the hidebound members of the house of peers, and generally impugning their intelligence and their capacity to deal with the perplexities of legislation. To soften the cutting edge of his satire, and at the same time to heighten the ridiculousness of his subjects, he placed them in the irrelevant and confusing company of a group of fairies.

At the hands of a lesser master of the incongruous, such a melange of titled mortals and gossamer immortals might have turned into an unpalatable and unintelligible hodgepodge. But the problems he set himself aroused Gilbert to the exercise of his most rapier-like wit, and Sullivan matched him with a score that is food for the immortals. With the exception of "The Yeomen of the Guard"—that unparalleled peak of Gilbert and Sullivan collaboration, which the Boston Comic Opera company sees fit to leave out of its repertory—"Iolanthe" is, to me at least, the summit of their art.

It may have been the wondrous drollery of the libretto and the inexhaustible variety and richness of the score that made "Iolanthe" seem a better performance than either of the two other operas the company has presented at the Studebaker. But I think the players deserve their share of credit, too, for there were fewer gaucheries of style and fewer vital deficiencies of projection.

This is not to say that one could justify the change in the first act finale which virtually ended the plot by having Phyllis faint in Strephon's arms, instead of following the libretto's instructions, which call upon him to spurn her; or that the myopic stage direction could be condoned which kept the audience from sharing in the banter of Gilbert's asides explaining that parts of his text were in French, Latin, and Greek. But in spite of such evidences that the director did not understand his job any too well, the performance as a whole carried conviction.

Florenz Ames, as was to be expected on the basis of past experiences, topped his fellows in the nimbleness with which he characterized the bewigged lord chancellor and set forth the pattering expositions of his philosophy and personal problems. Phillip Tully, appearing for the first time in a rôle he had expected to sing, encompassed the music gratefully, but had again made a hash of the spoken dialog.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The effects of total war are illustrated with increasing vigor each day at the Fort Wayne, Ind., shops of the Pennsylvania railroad, as more and more women step into jobs vacated by men who have gone into the services. There are now about 50 of them there doing a war job and doing it capably. They are working as laborers and helpers to boilermakers, machinists, blacksmiths, pipefitters, painters, electricians, and sheet metal workers.

They are all ages and all sizes, altho most of them are substantially built women. The youngest is Miss Phyllis Grin, 19 years old, who is a machinists' helper in the air brake repair shop. The oldest is Mrs. Martha M. Frazier, 60, a former welder who is a laborer in the cabinet shop.

One of the women is doing the identical job that her husband did before he went to war, and doing it equally as well. She is Mrs. Betty Ziegler, who assists on repairs to internal combustion engines. Her husband, Roland, is at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, and his mother cares for their two children while she's working on the railroad.

A number of family groups are employed at the shops, in line with the company's policy. One of the youngest—and prettiest—workers is Miss Juanita Harpe, 21, who works as a laborer. In the shops with her is her mother, Mrs. Lila Harpe, a machinists' helper, and her brother, Elmer, a machinist. Juanita's aunt—her mother's sister—also works in the shops as an assigned laborer. She is Mrs. Noma Manier, but every one calls her Ruth, in deference to her dislike for the name of Noma.

A sister and brother also are working together at the shops. They are Miss Florence Lepper, known as "Butch," and Jim Lepper. Florence tests pneumatic tie tampers, which are used to pack ballasts under the ties on the railroad right of way. Her brother is a painter and carpenter.

Both Lena Fitzwater and Mrs. Martha Madden are at tasks that might apply around the home, but both are wary of admitting they have this knowledge. Among other duties, they fire furnaces, and they remain secretive about it for fear their families might suggest they practice up at home! Mrs. Madden, a former laundry worker, also operates a 5,500 pound steam hammer.

Mrs. May Abel, a machinists' helper, was one of the first women employed in the shops, and because of her sympathetic nature, she has become mother confessor to the other women workers. They tell her their problems and personal troubles, and she tries to help, and usually does. Her sister, Mrs. Etta Lopschire, operates a 150,000 pound crane in the shops.

Lee Miller is general foreman of the Fort Wayne shops, where repairs on the line's work equipment and locomotives are made. He said that the men have responded splendidly to the feminine influx. Before the women arrived, he suggested that li'' become a little more "formal" in the shops, and that profanity be avoided wherever possible.

At first some of the men were embarrassed to see the women doing the type of labor that prevails in the shops, but they outgrew it. John H. Cooper, superintendent of the shops, and J. E. Brower, master mechanic, agreed that the women are doing a fine job.

The women, too, had slight difficulties accustoming themselves to railroad vocabulary, but they caught on quickly. They work an average of 48 hours a week and are paid between 50 cents and $1 an hour. They work with about 500 men and wear heavy slacks or coveralls, work shoes, safety goggles if the job requires it, and caps or bandanas. Unless they're viewed at close range, it is sometimes hard to tell whether they're men or women. The entire line has 10,508 women among its 160,000 employés.

WAVES applicants who visit the recruiting office in the Board of Trade building this evening around 6 o'clock will not only be interviewed by Lt. Mary Daily and her staff but also will talk with the famous singer, Hildegarde, who's currently appearing at the Palmer House. Hildegarde also will witness a mass swearing-in ceremony of girls already accepted for enlistment.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

John Barbirolli Scores Triumph with Orchestra

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, John Barbirolli, guest conductor. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Feb. 4, 1943.. The program: Overture to "L'Italiana in Algeri".....Rossini
Adagietto from Symphony No. 5, C sharp minor.....Mahler
Suite No. 1, "Descobrimento do Brasil".....Villa-Lobos
[First performance in Chicago.]
Symphony in G minor, Köchel 183.....Mozart
"La Mer".....Debussy

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The season's most successful adventure in guest conducting took place at Orchestra hall last night when John Barbirolli scored a triumph with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Mr. Barbirolli had a good orchestra and a good program, and he used the one to display the other. That he displayed himself in the process was quite incidental, for despite the Napoleonic figure he cuts on the podium, this Englishman of French and Italian descent is no showman, no human dynamo, and certainly no show-off. He is a discreet, sensitive, and competent conductor who considers the music of primary importance.

For his guest program he chose music that on the whole was light in texture and lyrical in mood, yet it was filled with variety and it had climactic composition. The Rossini overture, for instance, was a kind of vocalization to tune up the orchestra. Taken from the almost forgotten opera, "L'Italiana in Algeri," and never before played at the subscription concerts, it is light as a feather, and almost an unpredictable. Mr. Barbirolli enjoyed its whimsies, and by playing it made sure the orchestra was tuned up to spontaneous precision.

The Mahler adagietto was another kind of vocalization, this time for strings and harp, a nostalgic song of yearning for some nebulous daydream too misty to be tragic, just impersonal enough to be enjoyably poignant. Knowing by this time that he had the orchestra stemming from his fingers, Mr. Barbirolli spun a dark fabric of melody that curved and clung to the ear until the sound of an audience cough was as bad as the screech of a fingernail on a blackboard.

So both orchestra and conductor arrived at the evening's novelty in brilliant form. It was the Brazilian Heitor Villa-Lobos' Suite from "Discovery of Brazil," vivid, luxuriant music with a fascinating introduction wrought of inventive passages for winds and strings, leading into a lively dance of pastoral overtones. It is an extremely attractive score, alive and sensitive, and it had precisely that sort of performance.

CHAPTER 15.
MORE QUESTIONING.

Carey became uneasily conscious of the fact that a telephone conversation is not always private. If the girl at the exchange was at a loose end she might at this moment be hanging on Sylvia's every trembling syllable.

He said, "Look here, my dear, you've just got the wind up. Whatever it is, he'll walk it off and come home like a lamb. I tell you what, I'll give you a ring about half past 8, and, if everything isn't all right by then, I'll come over. Like me to bring Laura?"

"O, no—I mean, I liked her awfully, but—well, perhaps you'd better. Tim might think—O, I don't know, Carey—perhaps you won't have to come—but do just what you think." She sounded helpless and distracted.

When he called up again it was to hear that Tim had just come in.

In a hardly audible whisper Sylvia said, "It's all right. Bring Laura some other time. Goodnight."

It was a relief, altho he had been looking forward to the walk in the dark with Laura. They had now a perfectly ghastly evening before them—Alistair staring moodily at nothing at all; Robin with a volume of the encyclopedia in which he read with admirable pertinacity—Petra talking too much, too brightly, and then falling into a distressed silence; Miss Silver knitting placidly and conversing with steady cheerfulness, while he and Laura got what comfort they could from the fact that they were in the same room, and that occasionally their eyes could meet. Every one was glad when 10 slow strokes from the clock in the hall made it decently possible to go to bed.

Carey's hand rested for a moment upon Laura's shoulder. The hard pressure said more than words could have done. They went up slowly and in silence to their rooms.

Miss Fane and Miss Adams did not appear at breakfast next day, but by the middle of the morning both were downstairs again, taking up their accustomed routine. Miss Fane's chair made its way to the north wing, where she held her usual interview with Mrs. Dean in the housekeeper's room. Tearful sympathy was graciously accepted and then set aside. After the first few minutes there was nothing to distinguish the conversation from that of any other Saturday morning. Miss Fane wished a couple of economy dishes recommended by the ministry of food to be substituted for those suggested by Mrs. Dean.

"Carrots are extremely rich in vitamins, and this potato and onion curry should be palatable as well as nourishing. We're really most fortunate in having such a good stock of onions. . . ."

Mrs. Dean agreed as to the onions, but maintained a considerable reserve on the subject of the ministry's recipes.

Miss Fane passed to another subject.

"How is Florrie Mumford doing? Do you find her satisfactory?"

Mrs. Dean bridled a little.

"With what, then, Mrs. Dean?"

"Well, ma'am, it's the way she carries on outside. She's quick at her work, and she don't have to be told anything twice—I'll say that for her. But she's taken up a kind of a giggling friendship with that girl upstairs—Gladys Hopkins, Mrs. Slade's sister."

Miss Fane said, "O, well——" with dignified indulgence. "They're only girls after all."

"If it stopped at that——" Mrs. Dean said darkly.

Neither of the girls was seventeen. Miss Fane considered it her duty to probe farther.

"I don't like hints, Mrs. Dean. I think you had better tell me what you mean."

Mrs. Dean responded with alacrity.

"That Gladys, she's off down to the village every evening and doesn't care who she picks up with. I've told Mrs. Slade she ought to keep a tighter hold on her, but it's no good. Florrie's afternoon out they go off together dressed up to the nines, rouge and lipstick and all. And Florrie's got into a way of being late back. Ten sharp is the rule, and she's been anything 5 to 20 minutes over it regular. And that boy of hers that brings her home, young Shepherd, he comes right up the drive with her and around to the back door, and the two of them there in the yard, giggling and whispering. If girls wasn't so hard to get, I'd have asked you to give her her notice. But there it is; we might go farther and fare worse. And she's good at her work."

Miss Fane observed that the Shepherds were respectable people, and that she disliked unnecessary changes in her household.

"I asked you about the girl because I passed her in the passage just now. There was something about her expression—I hope you don't find her impertinent?"

Mrs. Dean's buxom form appeared to expand. In a few well chosen words she gave Miss Fane to understand that impertinence from girls was what she never had put up with and never meant to.

This concluded the audience. Miss Fane departed as she had come, in her self-propelling chair. She betook herself to a room not as a rule in use. The study having been allotted to Supt. March, she had given orders that this small morning room, which was next to the dining room, should be prepared.

She found Miss Silver there reading the newspaper, and inquired, "Where is Lucy? I hope she has come down. The longer she shuts herself away, the harder she will find it to come back to ordinary life again."

Miss Silver assented.

"That is quite true. But it is not so long, Agnes. You must remember that."

"Am I likely to forget it?" said Agnes Fane. "But if I can appear as usual, Lucy can, too."

"You have great strength of character," said Miss Silver. "But as a matter of fact Lucy came down just after you did. She is with the superintendent in the study. He wished to see her."

As she spoke she folded and proffered the newspaper, which was graciously accepted just as Lucy Adams came in. Like her cousin, she was in black, but in her case the garment had obviously done service before. Shapeless and unbecoming, it had the rusty, battered look peculiar to old mourning. But her face, altho still puffed with yesterday's weeping, was composed, and the reddened eyes were dry. It occurred to Miss Silver that there was a faint tinge of triumph in her manner.

"My dear Maud, what a charming man your friend is—the superintendent. An extraordinary profession to choose, but he really is a charming man. Don't you agree with me, Agnes?"

Miss Fane raised her eyes from the paper for as brief a space as possible.

"I have no doubt that he is an efficient officer," she remarked, and returned to the newspaper.

It was observable that Miss Maud Silver sat up very straight. There was an unwonted tinge of color in her cheeks. After pressing her lips together and saying nothing for a moment, she got up and went out of the room.

Across the passage at the half open study door stood the charming man and efficient officer who had just been damned with faint praise by Agnes Fane. He beckoned to Miss Silver, and she went over to him.

"I was just wondering how I was going to get hold of you. Come along in and listen. I've got plenty to tell you."

Randal March made a good enough guess. He could not help laughing as he asked, "What—has she been calling me a policeman?"

L. M. Drake Jr. New Head of Boys' Club Foundation

Lyman M. Drake Jr., insurance executive, was elected president of the Union League Foundation for Boys' Clubs yesterday, succeeding Burton W. Hales. E. T. Wilkes, managing director of the Boys' Club Foundation, spoke on the loyalty of the "international hodge podge" represented in the boys' club neighborhoods. "One of our clubs is located in predominantly a Polish community, the other largely Italian," he said. "We might expect the Poles to be more loyal than ever at this time and we might have some concern about the Italians. The fact is very clear there is no difficulty. Neither group thinks in terms of national background, but rather that they are Americans."

Crocheted Pill Box

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This clever crocheted pill box is a perennial favorite with young and old. It may be worked in one, two, or three colors, and the trimming is a matter of choice. Knitting worsted or synthetic straw may be used effectively.

For instructions in crocheting the pill box, No. 1024, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

When a defender has a little matter of 1,000 points within easy reach, and instead of collecting those points makes the opponents a present of a redoubled contract, he has cause for shame as well as grief. That was the case in the following deal:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♠ 104
♥ 98
♦ 7
♣ QJ976532

WEST
♠ 983
♥ KJ762
♦ A62
♣ 84

♠ A762
♥ 103

SOUTH

♣ K10

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 heart	Pass[!]	2 diamonds
Double	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	5 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

This strange sequence of bidding was actually produced in a supposedly expert game. It is obvious that several of the bids require considerable explaining.

South's one club was a semi-psychic, designed to inhibit a club opening against what he thought would be the final contract, namely, three no trump. This was not bad, but South's later bidding was rather impetuous. Having doubled East's two diamond bid [a takeout, not a penalty double, since North had not yet spoken] South might have thought twice before risking a three no trump call.

North's failure to raise immediately was somewhat startling in view of his extreme club length, but this can be explained under the heading of strategy. North's redouble of five clubs, however, was somewhat questionable, despite the strong bidding he had heard from his partner.

West should have received great credit, as well as a more material reward, for selecting the lead that should have resulted in the greatest possible defeat of the contract. He opened a trump! Obviously, East on winning the first trick could have struck a formidable blow for his own side by returning a heart. This would have resulted in declarer's losing one trick in each suit. But East took a different view. For some reason that I cannot undertake to explain, East carefully laid down the spade ace before leading his partner's bid suit, hearts. That was the end of the defense. Declarer won with the heart ace, drew the outstanding trump, and discarded dummy's heart and diamond losers on his own spade suit.

Child's Fears Diminished by Wise Managing

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

By managing your child's day wisely in regard to food, sleep, and fresh air that he has a chance for maximum health helps to diminish his fears.

There is one more general underlying factor to consider as a way to help dissipate a child's fearfulness and nervousness. That is his family setting. Does yours pay the child dividends of peace and happiness? Mental and emotional health is just as important to a child as physical health. Indeed, physical well-being tends to be increased, in both children and grownups, by their awareness of being loved and understood.

It is one thing for parents to love a child. It is, alas, often quite another thing for them to understand him and manage him wisely. To do so, a mother, for mothers are most with the younger children, must intuitively d i v i n e, or find out by thought and observation, first, what her little son or daughter is like as an individual person; second, what his or her nature needs for fulfilment in the way of direction or guidance, and, third, she must supply those needs.

There are many aspects of wise management we might mention, but chief among them and definitely working toward success are: That she shall feel a real interest in her child as a person and that she shall also enjoy his presence; that she shall achieve her wishes, such as obedience, for instance, without severity or friction; that she shall provide her child with at least some companionship of his "peers" in age; and that she shall give him freedom about the house and materials for play of all sorts, vigorous, creative, and manual. For the inhibitions that result from the constant frustration of natural impulses, which some ultra-good housekeepers inflict on their children at home, is not conducive to that sense of confident freedom which is so healthfully relaxing.

So we see that good health and wise management tend to prevent fearfulness and nervousness and to dispel them once they have appeared.

FASHIONS
By Angela

Get the right start on a firm foundation if you want your Easter ensemble to be the last word. If you are the tailored type, you can revel in the good looking selection of pumps and walking shoes available. These are all available at moderate prices.

Another strikingly tailored pump with an open toe, upper right, has a back strap and tailored bow. It is created of genuine python and is available in red, green, black, and turf tan. The softly draped matching python bag has a light wooden handle.

Humane Work of 1942 Is Told by Aid Society

The 74th annual meeting of the Illinois Humane society, held yesterday in the society building at 1145 South Wabash avenue, was devoted to the report of George A. H. Scott, secretary for 43 years. He announced that 659 children benefited from society action in 1942, and 16,125 cases involving ill treatment of animals were investigated. Seventy-seven of the cases involving children had to be put thru the courts to obtain the required relief.

Scott said the society had no extra duties because of increased use of horses, but he expected more calls in the future. He reported 140 visits to junk dealers' horses; 1,033 visits to riding academy horses; 352 to livery stables and barns, and 635 to horses used in general teaming. Results were that 132 riding academy horses were laid up, and a total of 466 persons "were admonished for neglect" of horses of all classifications.

Finding homes for dogs, rescuing cats and dogs from such places as elevator shafts and poles, humanely destroying a n i m a l s, investigating sanitary conditions in pet shops and kennels, are all part of Humane society business.

Richard E. Schmidt, an architect, was elected president; Charles R. Wilson and James Curtiss, both investment bankers, became first and second vice presidents; John R. W. Sergent was reëlected treasurer, and Scott, secretary.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 4.—Quentin Reynolds has already finished the prologue for "Only the Stars Are Neutral." His story, which 20th Century will make, hasn't even been cast yet, but Quent feared he'd be on some foreign mission, so he's finished his part of the deal. . . . Norman Corwin, radio writer and producer, has gotten a nod from our industry. It came from Charles Feldman. Norman will do a script called "The Common People of Europe," with Feldman using stars he manages for different sequences. You know—a la "Tales of Manhattan." Ingrid Bergman for the scenes laid in Prague, Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert for the French, Dietrich for the German. At least, this is what he hopes—he hopes. . . . Don Ameche all set for "Diplomatic Courier," Reader's Digest story by Frances Wickare. Gosh! What would the movies have done this year without that magazine!

On the Town.

Ran into Barbara Stanwyck in parking lot today. She was looking mighty pretty, without makeup, only a bit of lipstick matching rim of her colored glasses—accidentally, she assured me. Barbara in a gray tailored suit, with a beaver coat slung over her shoulders, was en route to Edith Head for some new clothes. . . . Gay meeting between Zasu Pitts and Erich von Stroheim at Paramount. They haven't seen each other in years. You'll remember Erich directed her in that film classic "Greed" made in 1923 and out of it Zasu emerged as a star. With Zasu getting another chance [and how her fans have cried for her] it wouldn't surprise me if Paramount signed her to a long term contract.

Missed Out on Fun.

You wouldn't believe the Flynn case kept many newshounds from making the trip up to San Francisco for opening of Howard Hughes' picture "The Outlaw," but it did. They had to stay on the job here until jury brought in that verdict. . . . Errol Flynn dancing with a gorgeous blonde again at the Mocambo. . . . Also Oleg Cassini, who certainly made a quick recovery from pneumonia, dancing with wife Gene Tierney. Oleg is out of that navy suit. He's a corporal in the army. . . . Doris Duke and Jimmy Cromwell around town, looking mighty pleased w i t h themselves. . . . Phil Baker, signed for a picture with Betty Grable and Carmen Miranda, was studying the profile of Jack Benny in a New York night club, and said to him, "Don't tell me I'll have to wait until I'm as old as you are before getting a romantic lead!"

All for Republic.

When Joe E. Brown returns from entertaining our men in the South Pacific he'll do "Detroit," story woven about that city's war industries. Also a rookie yarn called "Gone with the Draft." You'll remember Joe was our first actor to entertain in Alaska and soldiers' regard for him is beautiful to behold. . . . Gary Cooper, Bill Melklejohn, Harry Sherman, and Johnny Beck are off to Mexico for four days of hunting. Gary was at Warners yesterday for conferences on "Saratoga Trunk," but what he was doing was trying to persuade Boots Dunlap, a cop, to go along. They're old friends. . . . Vera Blum, charming daughter of Sol, who's so well known in Washington, had fun in our town. Not only was she entertained by Mayor Bowron, but escorted thru the studios and all the gay spots, with Edgar Selwyn playing host.

NORTH SIDE PICKS GLOVE CHAMPIONS TONIGHT

BY ARCH WARD.

COLLEGES justify the continuance of their athletic programs on the need for physical fitness. . . . They have contended that competitive sports are the best medium for the development of a student's durability, quick thinking under fire, and self-reliance. . . . This department subscribes to that theory wholeheartedly. . . . It is difficult, however, to understand the reluctance of the Big Ten conference and the midwest universities which practice the same code in abrogating the freshman rule. . . . A young man hardly can expect to remain in college more than a year or two while the nation is at war. . . . Why shouldn't he have the right to enjoy the advantages of intercollegiate sport from the beginning? . . . This is no time to be concerned about proselyting or whether one school at the moment has better freshman material than its neighbor. . . . There will be plenty of time after the war to worry about illegal recruiting. . . . We have a feeling college presidents will get around to that in due time if they desire intercollegiate sport to survive. . . . Most of the other organized collegiate groups already have abolished the regulation which requires a year's residence before an athlete is permitted to represent his university.

Wallace Butts, coach of Georgia's Rose bowl champions, concluded his remarks at the Atlanta Touchdown club party by saying that all he could wish for in coaching would be "the respect held for Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech, the good looks of Jack Meagher of Auburn, and the money of Frank Thomas of Alabama." . . . Wonder whatever happened to that sealed bottle Lefty Gomez and Babe Ruth tossed overboard between Honolulu and Yokohama while en route to Japan several years ago. . . . Inside was a note promising the finder a reward. . . . Tom Walsh, past president of the Professional Golfers' association, is familiar with Bizerte, the port now figuring in the North African war news. . . . He was frequently based there in the last war as a member of a navy mine sweeper's crew. . . . Ned Day, former match play bowling champion, has a new address—United States Naval hospital, Barracks 129 W, San Diego, Cal. . . . Day was hospitalized three weeks ago after suffering an internal injury. . . . Ray Mallouf, former Chicago Cardinals forward passing expert, has been commissioned an ensign and assigned to the staff of the pre-flight school at Athens, Ga. . . . Gavvy Cravath, home run hitter of the Philadelphia Phils many years ago, is a judge in California. . . . Sam Levy, veteran Milwaukee baseball writer and former president of the American Association Chapter of Baseball Scribes, is confined to his home after a collapse while shoveling snow.

Chameleon.

She told me that she truly loved the navy,
But suddenly she changed her point of view,
In ten short days I thoroly convinced her
That khaki surely had it over blue.

A week ago I came back from my furlough,
My outlook was so rosy and serene.
An air mail came today from old Chicago,
It seems that she has met a cute marine.

—Baron.

Best of Friends Must Part.

My best friend went to war today,
The truest friend I had,
An' I don't hesitate to say
I'm feelin' downright sad.

I tried my level best, I did,
To hide my grief and pain
When he, as proud as any kid,
Climbed 'board the waitin' train.

But in this thing I call me heart
I felt the urge to cry,
For it was hard, indeed, to part
An' bid that friend good-by.

He didn't say a word to me,
But in those eyes o' his
I saw as plain as plain kin be
What friendship really is.

I hope you'll pardon how I act,
I'm sorta in a fog,
But it is tough, an' that's a fact,

—Em Aitch Dee.

Jazbo's Journal.

"Idle gossip sinks ships," says a government warning. In that case I know a couple of people who have scuttled at least a couple of navies.

From an ad in a Chicago daily: "Among thrifty people it always has been considered good manners to clean up any remaining sauce or gravy with a slice of bread. Let's all adopt this custom, at least for the duration. When millions are starving we have no right to waste food." Boy, am I ever glad that swabbing the old gravy with a piece of bread has at last been construed as a patriotic gesture.

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Maybe It's Just as Well.

In the Golden Gloves application blank printed in THE TRIBUNE it read "Club [if any]". I had thought about entering, but I decided that if

I had to get in there and mix with a guy carrying a baseball bat or a crowbar I'd rather stay home and catch up on my crocheting.

—Art Kreitzer.

BAY MEADOWS TO DROP MEETING ON U. S. REQUEST

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 4 (AP).—Jerry Giesler, chairman of the California racing commission, said tonight he would call a meeting to withdraw racing dates that had been extended to the Bay Meadows track.

"Gov. Earl Warren has asked that formal action be taken to comply with the government's request for abandonment of the Bay Meadows meeting," said Giesler. "We want to coöperate to the fullest."

Earlier Gov. Warren reported in Sacramento that he had received a request from Rubber Director William M. Jeffers that the 50 day Bay Meadows meeting scheduled to start Feb. 20 be canceled in the interests of conserving rubber.

William P. Kyne, general manager of Bay Meadows, 20 miles south of San Francisco, said his organization would coöperate with any government or state requests. He said, however, that Jeffers' letter incorrectly included Bay Meadows as among tracks which cannot be reached by most patrons by other means than riding on rubber tires. The track is serviced by local trains which run past the front door and by buses and street cars only a short distance away, he pointed out.

New York, Feb. 4 (AP).—The Chicago Blackhawks and New York Rangers struggled to a 1 to 1 tie here tonight before 11,211. It was the Rangers' 14th consecutive National Hockey league game without a victory.

The Rangers, beaten 10 to 1 when the teams met a week ago in Chicago, turned in one of their better showings of the victory-less string that began when they were shut out by Detroit New Year's eve. But it wasn't good enough to hold a one goal lead against Chicago's strenuous third period attacks.

17 Minutes in Penalties.

The game was generally fast, rough and crude. One of the high spots was a brawl in which Red Mitchell, Chicago defenseman, collected 17 minutes in penalties all at once. He drew a minor for roughing with the Rangers' Phil Watson as they engaged in a brief flurry of fisticuffing; a major for drawing blood with a high stick, cutting Watson over the eye, and 10 more minutes for misconduct. It didn't do much harm, as the Rangers drew a flock of minor penalties on top of it.

The Rangers' Lynn Patrick got the first goal of the evening on a beautifully executed shot early in the second period and Doug Bentley evened the count with a quick one at 12:14 of the third. Besides these two forwards, the only outstanding performer was Earl Seibert of the Chicago defense line. The goal gave Doug Bentley 44 points for the season.

DETROIT, 3; TORONTO, 2

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 4 (AP).—Detroit Red Wings strengthened their hold on second place in the National Hockey league tonight by defeating the third place Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 2, before 12,000.

The game marked the first appearance of Jimmy Orlando, husky Detroit defenseman, on Toronto ice since Nov. 7 when he and Gaye Stewart had a set-to which brought partial suspensions to each. Orlando until tonight was not allowed to play in Toronto and Stewart couldn't play in Detroit. Orlando and Stewart shook hands on the ice before the game but didn't see much of each other after that because Orlando was forced from the game early in the second period with an injured ankle, bruised when he crashed into the boards.

SOLDIER FIGHTS WITH FISTS, TOO

CAMP GRANT FIVE HOST TO LOYOLA

22d Victory Is Soldiers' Aim Tonight.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Camp Grant's basketball men, claimants to top ranking among service teams by virtue of 21 victories in 22 games, have quite a job cut out for them this week-end. They meet Loyola university tonight on their home court and then make their debut in the Stadium tomorrow night against De Paul university. The other game on the Stadium program matches Northwestern and Purdue.

Victors Over Illinois.

The Camp Grant team early surprised midwestern fans by whipping Illinois. This is the only setback on the Illini record, and the achievement has been steadily enhanced as Illinois has progressed successfully toward retention of its conference championship.

Wisconsin partly redeemed conference prestige by whipping Camp Grant. Neither of these games figures, of course, in a comparison to guess tomorrow's result. The Demons, beaten last Saturday by Notre Dame, 50 to 47, now have lost two of their 15 games. They are in the unfortunate position of attempting a comeback against a team that merits equality with the Irish.

1,109 Points for Camp Grant.

In 22 games Camp Grant has scored 1,109 points against 738 points for opponents. Rotner and Blanken are the individual leaders with 189 and 186 points, respectively.

While Northwestern is in eighth place in the conference standings, the Wildcats have been whipped decisively only once. Illinois marked up this triumph last Monday. Minnesota and Wisconsin hold one and two point victories, respectively, over the Wildcats, who whipped Michigan for their sole conference victory.

The Northwestern-Purdue game will start at 8:15 tomorrow night.

CARROLL BEATEN BY GREAT LAKES QUINTET, 68 TO 32

Great Lakes basketball team defeated Carroll college, 68 to 32, last night in the station drill hall for its 13th straight victory and 23d triumph of the season in 25 games. The victory also preserved two other records for the Bluejackets, as it extended their streak to 40 straight without a defeat at home the last two years and maintained the mark of never having lost to a team from the state of Wisconsin.

2-Ton Stadium Clock Tells Fan Everything

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Hockey fans are going to have an opportunity to see the Blackhawks try for some new records against the New York Rangers in Chicago Stadium Sunday night—and more. They are going to see the unveiling of the new $10,000 [or is it $50,000?] timing device which weighs two tons [or is it three tons?]

For seven long years there has been talk of such a clock. It was ready at the start of this hockey season, except that hard to get priority orders were needed for materials to swing it into place. [It has not been revealed whether the recent failure of a game ending green light which cost the Hawks a victory softened up the sympathies of the government, but as much is suspected.]

It Took Some Research.

The actual cost of the magnificent, multi-colored, four-sided device, is said to have been $10,000. The foregoing $50,000 figure gets on the scene as the cost of research work on the intricate contraption, plus the expense of the construction of the individual timer.

The timer is designed for use in the automatic timing of hockey, including play, timeouts and penalties; basketball, boxing and rodeo competition. The hockey setup is perhaps the most intricate. The thing does practically everything except sharpen the players' skates and fold those toy airplanes that the screwballs on the top shelves sail down on the ice.

Has Plenty of Gadgets.

The timer is suspended somewhat to the east of center ice. Each side measures 10½ by 12 feet. The timer has more different colored lights than you ever saw on a Christmas tree, starting with the primary colors and going into numerous gorgeous blends. The sound effects include bells, whistles, and sirens. Also you can learn what time of night it is and there's a special alarm clock for dozing officials.

MAY CATCH CUBS NAPPING ANY DAY

Spring Snoozes Part of Wilson's Plan.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

War time spring training, sans waving palms, sun tan, etc., isn't going to be exactly a wearisome chore for the Cubs while their camp is in operation in French Lick, Ind.

They'll have to work, probably far more strenuously than in the springs when California atmosphere was at their disposal, but their comforts will not be overlooked.

This is on the authority of Manager Jim Wilson, who yesterday declared he would arrange things in such fashion that his boys will be provided with a period for daily napping. Yes, the athletes will have time to snooze between their baths and dinner time, but just who is going to put 'em to bed and keep 'em there until the evening mess call is sounded, hasn't been figured out. Ball players, as a type, are inclined to roam in whatever leisure time they might have before dark.

Will Report at 10 o'Clock.

Wilson's idea is that it won't work an undue hardship on his troupers if he posts 10 a. m. as reporting hour at the practice field, which for the Cubs this spring will be just outside their French Lick Springs hotel door. He'll excuse them for lunch with orders to reassemble in uniforms for an afternoon drill, and then herd them off to the various types of baths available. And then they can go from the bathhouse to the rooms, garbed only in their bath robes for the nap calculated to restore their energy. Of course, if some of them prefer cumulative rummy or such to napping, there'll be no law against it.

Harridge Leaves for East.

President Will Harridge of the American league departed for the east yesterday, his schedule calling for appearance at the Connie Mack birthday dinner in Philadelphia tonight and the annual New York Baseball Writers' roundup on Sunday. From there he will proceed to Florida.

General Manager Jim Gallagher of the Cubs, and Wilson, leave today for New York, where on Tuesday the National league will hold its annual spring meeting.

CALDER, HOCKEY LEADER, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

MONTREAL, Quebec, Feb. 4 (AP).—Frank Calder, the man who made the National Hockey league work, died today a short time after his return from Toronto, where he suffered a heart attack during a league meeting a few days ago. He was 65 years old.

Calder was brought to a hospital here from Toronto last night after arrangements had been made for Mervin [Red] Dutton to take over his duties temporarily as head of the major hockey circuit. He appeared to stand the overnight trip well and members of his family with him while he ate breakfast had just left the hospital when he sank back on the pillows and died before they could be called back.

WINNERS TO FACE SOUTH SECTION TEAM THURSDAY FOR CITY TITLES

BY HOWARD BARRY.

This is the night the north side picks its Golden Glove champions. The way was cleared last night with the second consecutive program of fast and brilliantly sustained action in Loyola gymnasium. The boys who still are undefeated will be back again this evening to put on a show that is expected to be the most sensational of the week.

There will be plenty at stake for the fighters who take north side championships tonight will go on to next Thursday's city finals, in which they will meet the south side's powerful title holders.

The crowd which jammed Loyola gymnasium last evening kept up volleys of uproarious applause as the battles moved along at a great pace. The sailors from Navy pier, the army boys from various camps and schools, representatives of the city's athletic clubs and numerous unattached boxers mixed it up in bout after bout with true Golden Gloves zest.

Hammer Wins Title.

Buck Hammer of the Army Aviation Technical Training school beat Orland Easton of the C. Y. O. in a bout for the south sectional novice lightweight championship which had been carried over from the tournament in St. Sabina gymnasium. Hammer had fought twice on the concluding night of the south side show, and that's the limit under Golden Glove rules. Easton's long reach caused the soldier quite a bit of trouble last night, but Hammer landed enough solid blows to get the decision.

James Sarenello and Lew Jenkins, a pair of aggressive flyweights, put on three rounds of terrifically fast action in an open division bout. Both boys concentrated on shots at the chin and jaw. They bobbed and ducked and flailed away without an instant's letup. Sarenello enjoyed a clear margin in the first round, but his rival rallied thereafter and made a close fight of it right to the finish. A split decision went to Sarenello.

Dalton Marches On.

Tim Dalton of the Madison A. C., who was the city lightweight novice champion last season, won again last night in his campaign for the 135 pound title. In a hard hitting match, Dalton stood up and slugged out a decision over Eddie Miller of the C. Y. O.

Stanley Berg of the Ringside gymnasium, who is considered an outstanding prospect in the 135 pound open class, showed sensational coolness under heavy fire to beat Ceaser Cooper of the Savoy A. C. Berg started out well, held a good margin at the end of the first round and continued to score in the second. Toward the end of the round, however, Cooper staggered Berg with a solid right to the jaw. Berg blinked but returned to the attack.

In the third, Cooper again dealt out terrific punishment but Berg's reply was a staunch rally that knocked his adversary from corner to corner. That provided enough margin to make the decision safe.

Crowd Cheers Both Boys.

John Lobenkofer of the C. Y. O. and William Corcoran put on one of the most zestful novice engagements of the entire evening. After taking a severe walloping in the early stages, Lobenkofer returned to the attack and won the decision. Thruout the three rounds each boy was willing to take a punch in order to land one.

They smacked one another from the center of the ring to the ropes and back again. First Lobenkofer would haul off and lay what looked like a haymaker on Corcoran's jaw. Then Corcoran would shake his head and reply with a mighty slap at Lobenkofer's nose. Both boys received uproarious cheers as they left the ring.

The tallest and the shortest contestants of the 135 pound novice division met and the little fellow won. This was Robert Dean of the C. Y. O. Dean, who didn't come quite to his opponent's shoulder, but took the decision over Donald Besander, also of the C. Y. O.

One of the most attractive bouts tonight will bring together Dalton and Berg. Other open class contests tonight include:

Lane Beats Roosevelt in Double Header.

Amundsen yesterday broke its tie for first place with Schurz in the City league north section senior basketball race by winning, 52 to 31, on the Schurz court. It was Amundsen's sixth straight league victory and the first defeat in six games for Schurz.

Lane Tech dealt Roosevelt a double defeat, the juniors winning, 30 to 25, and the seniors, 52 to 41. It was the second defeat for Roosevelt in both junior and senior divisions against four victories. Von Steuben won its sixth victory in seven north section junior contests by defeating Senn, 33 to 22.

Hirsch Seniors Pressed.

Hirsch whipped Chicago Vocational for its sixth straight south section double victory. The juniors won, 36 to 13, but the seniors had to battle overtime before winning, 33 to 28. The regulation game ended in a 25 to 25 tie.

Fenger won its seventh straight south section senior game, defeating Englewood, 47 to 22, on the Fenger floor. Ernie Neal led Fenger with 25 points.

Kelvyn Park Sets Pace.

Kelvyn Park continued to set the pace in the west section senior race, overwhelming Foreman, 77 to 33, on the victor's court. It was Kelvyn Park's sixth straight. Pete Coorlas poured in 23 points for the winners. Crane Tech seniors recorded their fifth straight and 14th of the season by defeating Austin, 40 to 32, on the Crane floor. The defeat, Austin's second in six games, knocked it out of a third place tie with Marshall, which was idle.

Manley maintained its undefeated record in the central section with a 38 to 28 decision over Tilden on the Tech court. It was the fifth straight victory for Manley which is the only undefeated team in both divisions—junior and senior—in the central section. Lindblom trounced Gage Park, 36 to 18, for its fifth victory in six games and tightened its grip on second place behind Manley.

A MISSISSIPPI CUSTOM: TO FISH, HUNT FOR FOOD

Quest for Quail, Squirrels Patriotic This Year.

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Forest, Miss., Feb. 4.—Before the war it was primarily a case of hunting and fishing for fun in this southern state, known for its superb quail hunting and excellent fresh and salt water fishing. But in this year of food shortages Mississippi families are going to draw heavily on the outdoor resources of the state for food, according to W. F. Dearman, Mississippi director of conservation, who points out that in a single season more than 1,500,000 quail are bagged in the state. Millions of squirrels, a favorite game animal, and countless numbers of doves also provide meals for sportsmen's families.

Mississippi has a pretty good idea of the number of families that utilize fresh and salt water fish and also how the wild game resources of the state figure in the food economy, for the department of conservation has made several studies of this subject.

Most of Them Fish.

In most northern states fishermen in former years used to fish mostly for the fun of it. Down here it's estimated that 75 per cent of all families in Mississippi go fishing and many of those who use cane poles in getting a mess of fish are putting their simple tackle to work to get food. W. Coyt Mazure, Scott county game warden, said that in a single year the take of fish for food from Eagle river, a good sized stream in Scott county, practically equals the poundage of produce in that county.

It's possible to fish just about every month of the year down here where hot biscuits and crackling bread dress up a meal of fried bream or spreckled perch, so during 1943 when meat will not be easy to get for any family the department of conservation anticipates that the fish resources of the state will be worth millions of dollars in actual food value on home menus.

The Supply Is Large.

This season the Mississippi fishermen and hunters have nothing to worry about as far as supplies of fish and game are concerned. The quail crop is big [we got into eight coveys of quail in just a few hours]. Continuous restocking of lakes has produced a large supply of bream and other edible game fish.

OLD TIMERS GIVE BOB LEWIS BIG TIME AND GIFTS

A crowd of 1,125 members of the Old Timers' Baseball association and other fans assembled last night in the Morrison hotel, heard speeches by Gov. Dwight Green; Bob Lewis, former outfielder for the Lake Shore Revelers, for 17 years the Cubs' traveling secretary and last night's guest of honor; Lt. Mickey Cochrane of the navy; Corp. Joe Skurski of the army, and Bill Niesen, president of the Old Timers.

President Niesen presented a wardrobe trunk to Lewis, the gift of the association, and other friends gave him other presents, which included a recapped tire, a crate of eggs, a ham, a cake of limburger cheese, a head of cabbage, an eighth of a keg of beer, a bottle of spirits, and a drum of fuel oil.

Lewis, who has gained nation-wide fame as an extemporaneous comedian, chose last night to read a prepared speech and did very well with it, tho the light was not very good on the dais. Charley Grimm, Lewis' vaudeville partner, presented the beer.

JUVENILE COSTS GROWING; BOARD SEEKING CAUSES

County Plans to Eliminate 11 Out of 145 Jobs.

Members of the Cook county board tried to find out yesterday why costs of handling child dependency cases in the Juvenile court are going up in a time of full employment. The answers were not clear, but Commissioner Daniel Ryan, presiding at a board finance meeting, announced that 11 of the 145 juvenile work jobs would be eliminated.

Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court insisted that his staff not only could not operate efficiently on its tentative 1943 appropriations of more than a million dollars, but needed an increase.

Commissioner George A. Miller asked why juvenile delinquency and dependency cases in Chicago were more than doubling while, over a period of a few years, New York's cases of similar nature were being reduced sharply. The judge wasn't familiar with New York, he said, but did know that the needs here were increasing.

Contends Something Is Wrong.

"There is something wrong when earnings go up and the county still has to pay more for the support of children whose parents have jobs," declared Commissioner George A. Miller. This sentiment was echoed by Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke.

When Judge Bicek replied that this was something to be looked into, and added that he had guarded the spending of the county's money as well as forcing parents to pay $70,000 last year toward the care of children, Ryan said:

"The costs go up every year regardless of conditions," and added: "We are making up a budget and unless it is trimmed I don't know how you will meet your pay roll in July."

Commissioner William Busse remarked that the board was entitled to the coöperation of every officeholder and the judge said he had coöperated.

Seek More Hospital Revenue.

Joseph L. Moss, head of the county's public welfare bureau, said that the county collected about $75,000 a year from hospital patients who had funds, but that the relief agencies paid nothing for their clients who were hospitalized. Rosenbluth said that this source should yield $150,000 annually, and Moss was instructed to bill relief agencies for their charges.

The proposed county corporate appropriations are near $18,647,000, or $750,000 above estimated revenues. Last year the spending was about three and a half millions over income and as a result the board has unpaid bills of over five millions. Warnings have been given that bankruptcy looms unless a balance is attained.

TRAIN HITS OIL TRUCK; DRIVER DIES IN FLAMES

Two Trainmen Hurt at La Grange Crossing.

The driver of a fuel oil truck was killed and the engineer and fireman of a speeding eastbound Burlington passenger train were severely burned when the train crashed into the truck at the La Grange road crossing in downtown La Grange last night.

The truck's cargo of 2,600 gallons of fuel oil burst into flames, setting fire to railroad ties half a block in each direction and tires of parked automobiles. The truck's cab was carried three-quarters of a mile before the engineer and fireman, battling flames in their own cab, could halt the train.

John Phelan, the engineer, and John Ryan, the fireman, both of Aurora, were treated at a physician's office and taken to hospitals.

Two Watchmen Arrested.

La Grange police arrested the ground watchman, Harry Chumbley of River Grove, and the tower watchman, Ebb Ezra, 100 South Williams street, Westmont. Police Chief Harry Oakes said that Chumbley had given a premature signal to raise the gates after a westbound freight train had passed, altho the speeding passenger train bore down on the crossing a few blocks away.

Ezra, in his tower, refused to descend and submit to arrest until his replacement arrived at midnight. Police took him into custody then.

Earlier nine automobiles were damaged when the Burlington's Zephyr, west bound, struck a stalled automobile on the Ashland avenue crossing, two blocks from the La Grange road crossing, hurling debris into eight others parked along Burlington street, which skirts the right of way. None was hurt in the crash.

Harry M. Williams, 50, of 623 Madison street, was killed early today by a hit and run driver as he attempted to cross Madison at Green street. His body was taken to the county morgue.

Woman Dies of Injuries.

Mrs. Carrie M. Rice, 70, 6517 Greenview avenue, a widow, died in Edgewater hospital of injuries received Jan. 25 when she was struck by an automobile at Ashland and Arthur avenues. Irving Dorfman, 37, of 1649 Pratt boulevard, was the driver of the car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 47 persons were killed in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 43 were killed in Chicago, where 1,168 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

W. A. GRANVILLE DIES; EDUCATOR, MATHEMATICIAN

William A. Granville, Ph. D., LL. D., 79 years old, vice president and director of the Washington National Insurance company and author of a calculus book used in many schools, died yesterday of a heart attack in his home, 513 Aldine avenue. Mr. Granville was mathematics professor at Yale from 1895 until 1910, then was president of Gettysburg college until 1923. He served later as president of the American Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods until he became associated with the insurance company in 1929. He wrote several mathematics and insurance textbooks and devised several aids for mathematics students, such as logarithmic tables, notebooks, and plotting paper. Mr. Granville is survived by his widow and two daughters. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at Holy Trinity Lutheran church.

TEACHERS' UNION TRIAL OPENS ON EBY DISCHARGE

The executive board of the Chicago Teachers' union opened its trial session yesterday to hear evidence in the union management's action to discharge Kermit Eby, suspended executive secretary of the organization. The trial recessed last night and will reconvene this afternoon at the union headquarters, 509 South Wabash avenue.

The union, whose membership includes nearly 8,000 Chicago teachers, suspended Eby from his $4,000 a year post late last month. Eby sought a trial before the executive board, according to terms of his contract, which has been in force for five years.

Ira S. Turley, president of the union, charged he had taken action to discharge Eby when the executive secretary, who is not a member of the union, brought to a climax a series of squabbles with the management. Eby on Wednesday sought fruitlessly in a court action to force a referendum among the union membership regarding his suspension, instead of the executive board trial.

GEN. HAYASHI, FORMER PREMIER OF JAPAN, DIES

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The death of Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, 67 years old, premier of Japan in 1937 and one of the most powerful Japanese military leaders, was announced today in a Tokio dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Hayashi was president of the East Asia league, established two years ago to further Japanese exploitation of conquered territories. He played a part in 1931 in the beginning of the conquest of Manchuria. Then commander of the Corea garrison, he sent some of his troops across the border into Manchuria without awaiting orders from Tokio.

He was war minister in 1934 and 1935 and premier from February to May in 1937. His government was one of the few to quit in the face of popular disapproval. Despite his prominence in the Japanese program of conquest he was considered a moderate, especially alongside such men as fire eating Gen. Sadao Araki, whom he displaced as war minister in 1934.

ROW AMONG TOP WPB OFFICIALS BRINGS SHAKEUP

Eberstadt Powers Go to Wilson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—A new row among top war production board officials over control of the entire war output program was brought into the open today when WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson announced broad new powers have been transferred to Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson was given control over six major industry divisions, which previously have been under the direction of Ferdinand Eberstadt, WPB vice chairman in charge of materials distribution.

Nelson made no secret that the shakeup was made over Eberstadt's objections. A rift between Wilson and Eberstadt over control of WPB activities has been widening since the two were appointed last September.

Causes Confusion in Plants.

The new division of authority, which apparently was made last month but not announced, has also led to confusion in war plants and protests by manufacturers, it was disclosed.

Nelson said the divisions transferred to Wilson involve chiefly the production of more than 30 critical component items which have threatened to bottleneck war output. These include valves, forgings, meters, bearings, engines, and control instruments.

Wilson on Jan. 20 made an unpublicized request to all government procurement agencies to instruct their contractors to place orders by Feb. 6 for the 30 odd components needed in the first half of this year. The request also asked contractors to place orders for the same items by March 1 for the second six months of the year. The action was taken without the knowledge of Eberstadt, Nelson said today. Ordinarily, such a request would clear thru WPB divisions under Eberstadt.

Brings Flood of Protests.

The request brought a flood of protests to WPB from war plant officials, who said they could not estimate their requirements on such short notice. By the time the instructions cleared thru the government agencies and were received by the contractors, only a week or 10 days was left to place the orders.

Many manufacturers have been unable to estimate their demands for the components accurately, in response to Wilson's request, because materials allotments for the second quarter have not been announced.

The materials allotments for the second quarter under the new controled materials plan were determined this week by the WPB requirements committee, headed by Eberstadt, and are being transmitted to manufacturers. They are expected to be distributed by Feb. 9, three days after the plants are supposed to have placed their orders.

Orders May Be Changed.

Nelson admitted today that the orders for components may have to be changed after the final materials allotments are made known.

"The production division felt," Nelson said, "that the orders for the components should be placed on the books as soon as possible, and did not realize that the distribution of materials was the first operation."

Wilson, however, today reaffirmed the Feb. 6 and March 1 deadlines. Ralph J. Cordiner, his deputy, said that manufacturers unable to fix their requirements exactly may place their orders on an "as if" basis.

FLOUR DEMAND LIFTS PRICES OF WHEAT FUTURES

A revival in the demand for flour, with an eastern chain bakery reported to have purchased 200,000 barrels, equal to 900,000 bushels of wheat, brought sufficient buying on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday to lift the price of wheat futures nearly 1 cent from the early low. Closing gains were ⅝ to ⅞ cent.

Plants, Army, WPB Blamed for Steel Lack

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP).—The senate war investigating committee said today that the United States will produce barely enough steel this year "to satisfy the major war necessities," and listed these three factors as responsible for "our current steel shortage:"

1. An underestimate by the military services of the amount of steel needed under war conditions.

2. The desire of the big steel companies to prevent any expansion that might react unfavorably against their control of the steel industry after the war.

3. Delay by the war production board in converting industry to a war basis.

Urges Scrap Reform.

The committee said in an interim report that "the entire steel scrap collection program should be revamped."

Even tho the United States last year came within 3 million tons of producing as much steel as all the rest of the world, the report said, a shortage still exists. It added:

"After July, 1943, the most urgent demands for steel to be used in constructing new plants will have been filled as a result of the policy of finishing major plant construction by that date."

"Thereafter, primary needs for steel will be for actual armaments, for fighting equipment, for the shipbuilding program, and for essential civilian equipment such as railroads and farm machinery. There is every reason to believe that there will be sufficient amounts of steel for military purposes.

Doubt Enough for Public.

"But there is no assurance that we will be able to fill all the needs of essential civilian industries which will have a 2 year backlog of needed repairs, replacements, and additions.

"We may well experience another shortage if the war so continues and its scope so expands as to require us to increase or replace plant facilities. The present prospects for over-all ingot tonnage may therefore be viewed without undue alarm, altho not with complacency."

The committee charged that "the big companies retain their stranglehold on the entire industry and are still reluctant to adopt new melting practices or to adapt themselves to varying conditions of scrap and ore supply."

STOCK MARKET ENDS MIXED IN NARROW RANGE

New York, Feb. 4 (AP).—Late buying support helped the stock market in spots today, but the list as a whole was unable to get a firm foothold on the recovery route, and prices were mixed at the close.

There were a few wide gains among senior issues, altho improvement in common favorites usually was limited to minor fractions. Sales totaled 794,630 shares.

CHICAGO LIST IRREGULAR.

Prices were irregular on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 36,000 shares. Among the volume leaders were Chicago corporation, which advanced ¼ to a new 1942-'43 high at 2⅝; RCA and Electric Household, unchanged; Central and South West Utilities, down 1-16; and Loudon Packing, up ⅜ to close at 3⅝ after setting a new high of 3⅞.

BONDS AGAIN LOWER.

New York, Feb. 4 (AP).—The main body of corporate bonds again was lower today altho losses were mostly small and there were a few scattered firm spots. United States government issues were steady.

NORTH AMERICAN GAS ORDERED BY SEC TO DISSOLVE

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 4 (AP).—The securities and exchange commission today ordered the North American Gas and Electric company to liquidate and dissolve under "death sentence" provisions of the public utility holding company act.

The commission held that the Jersey City, N. J., company, which is the parent of Washington Gas and Electric company and eight other direct and indirect subsidiaries, "performs no essential functions and is incapable of rendering any financial assistance to its subsidiaries."

At the same time the commission withdrew the exemption which permitted the company to reacquire its own securities without specific SEC approval, and denied its application for orders directing the company to surrender its investment in the Washington company and declaring it no longer a holding company.

RAILS READY TO USE INCREASED EARNINGS ON DEBT, IMPROVEMENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—The railroads told the interstate commerce commission today they would comply with an "admonition" to use revenues from increased rates and fares for betterment to their plants and retirement of debt, and that no actual order would be necessary.

R. V. Fletcher, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, said the carriers were in accord with the general purpose of such a plan, and would report "from time to time" on progress. Fletcher opened railroad testimony in support of continuance of rate increases authorized last spring and whose repeal is sought by government price stabilization agencies of the government, who contend the increases are inflationary.

The ICC, meanwhile, reported class 1 railroads had net operating income of $1,480,940,960 in 1942, compared with $998,286,708 in 1941. This was estimated to be equal to about 960 million dollars net earnings, after fixed charges, against 499 million in 1941.

Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, director of the AAR bureau of railway economics, said net income received by railroads in 1942 was exceptional and not likely to be "repeated in 1943, nor in future years of the war, even tho traffic might show further increases. He said railroad taxes were more than three times as large in 1942 as in 1939, and likely would be even larger.

Small Plants Told to Report Need of Work

Suggestions as to how small manufacturers can get help in their efforts to find war contracts were made last night by L. A. Miller, deputy regional director of the smaller war plants division of the war production board. Miller addressed a group of small metal products manufacturers at a meeting held by the Metal Fabricators' institute in the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street.

A large amount of work suitable for small plants is available to assist those lacking materials to carry on their normal business, but the smaller war plants division has no way of determining what plants are in distress unless the plant operators make their plight known, Miller said.

Ready to Give Advice.

The division is ready to send field engineers to study any plant in urgent need of war contracts as a means of survival, he asserted.

"Division representatives are in close contact with procurement agencies, and they are constantly finding work suitable for placement with woodworking, textile, sheet metal, machine shop, and other plants, but unless the plant operators contact us, we have no way of knowing the degree of stress being felt in a plant, even tho we may have records showing what facilities it has," he said.

Ask for Data on Plants.

"Tell us not only your firm name and address and the kind of products you produced in normal times, but also the kind of war work you are equipped to handle, the average number of employés a year ago and now, the dollar value of factory sales in 1941, the dollar value of factory sales by months for the last six months, and the dollar value of business of all kinds on hand now.

"Give us also a general description of equipment, the kind of war work on hand, if any, and how much, and if your labor force has been depleted let us know to what extent it can be replaced."

WPB PRIORITIES FORM BRANDED 'UTTER FAILURE'

Nets Only Red Tape, Say Hardware Men.

Inventory form PD-IX, an application form which a hardware merchant fills out when he wishes to order priorities items such as tools, "is failing utterly" to provide a solution for the inventory replenishment problem, the Chicago Retail Hardware association said yesterday.

"The manner in which form PD-IX is operating is highly unsatisfactory, and our experience has been that it is not even beginning to accomplish its announced purpose of assisting distributors in maintaining a workable inventory," said J. C. Amis, secretary and manager of the association.

"Meaningless Gesture."

"The rating assigned on form PD-IX is almost invariably too low. The result is that the assignment of a rating on a PD-IX is a meaningless gesture. Another reason that form PD-IX is a failure is that the war production board usually grants much less than the applicant requests."

Amis said much red tape and time are required to get action from WPB on a PD-IX form. He said this hypothetical case would be a typical example:

A merchant had a $300 inventory of a certain tool on Dec. 31, 1941. Sales cut the inventory to $150 on March 15, and because of a war demand the dealer expected to sell all of the tools by April 15. He filled out a PD-IX form and explained why the supply would not last more than 30 days. It was April 15 before he was notified that his application was rejected and that WPB considered his $150 March 15 inventory ample.

How He Gets Nowhere.

On April 15, because of the spurt in business, the inventory was completely gone, so the merchant made a new application. By the time he filled it out, sent it to Washington and got an answer, it was May 15. He was assigned an A-10 rating. He placed his order with the manufacturer, who told him that the A-10 rating was too low, but that the manufacturer would do his best.

On June 30 the applicant had received no delivery, so he sent a letter to WPB telling officials that the A-10 rating was too low.

On July 15 he got a letter from WPB stating that it believed the material could be obtained with an A-10 rating. He worked until July 30 trying to find some manufacturer who would sell him the tools on an A-10 rating, but was unsuccessful.

Files New Application.

On Aug. 1, he decided to make a new application for tools, but was informed by the manufacturer that he needed an A-1-a rating.

He informed WPB of this in his application. He received the PD-IX form back from Washington Sept. 1, with an A-1-k rating assigned. The amount permitted was cut from $150 to $100. He placed the order with an A-1-k rating for $100 with the manufacturer Sept. 1. He waited till Oct. 1 and received nothing, but by that time an AA-1 rating was required, so he made a new application on Oct. 1. He finally got an A-1-A rating, but with the amount cut to $60. On Nov. 1 he placed an order for $60 worth of tools, but the manufacturer told him he might have to wait six months for delivery.

"The net result is that the applicant waited almost a year, received nothing, invested a lot of time in preparing applications, and finally was informed he would get $60 worth of merchandise with a six month wait," said Amis.

SHIP PRODUCTION IS LARGE AGAIN DURING JANUARY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—Merchant ship yards in the United States delivered 106 vessels aggregating 1,008,400 deadweight tons in January, the second month in a row in which production passed the million ton mark.

The maritime commission, announcing this today, said January production fell behind the December record of 121 ships because of shortages of steel and delays in completion of propulsion equipment, as well as severe weather conditions which particularly affected northern yards.

Seventy-nine of the vessels completed in January were Liberty ships, four C-type freighters, five large tankers, 14 of special types and four tugs.

The "special types" were not further identified, but presumably were built for military services.

Chicago Buick Plant's Output to Be Tripled

Flint, Mich., Feb. 4 [Special].—Under schedules released by the army air force and the WPB, Buick division of General Motors will triple its output of Pratt & Whitney bomber engines at its Flint and Melrose Park, Ill., plants during 1943, Harlow H. Curtice, a vice president of the corporation and Buick general manager, announced today.

He said output was at peak levels in relation to material allocations and that maximum deliveries were being made on that basis. Production in 1942 was more than four times the volume expected under original contracts, he said.

Curtice said that steady expansion during the last year had provided facilities to meet the expanded program. Nearly all steel parts for the engine are fabricated in the Flint factories as well as aluminum cylinder heads and pistons and numerous smaller parts, representing a total of approximately 50 per cent of engine fabrication.

Balance in Illinois Plant.

Curtice also announced the following promotions in the executive personnel of the Melrose Park plant:

I. H. Larkin, former general superintendent, becomes assistant manufacturing manager; James A. O'Neill, former assistant general superintendent, becomes general superintendent. Succeeding O'Neill is Thomas Johnson, former superintendent of engine assembly, with George Bricken, former assistant, succeeding Johnson as superintendent of assembly.

D. E. Williams is operating manager of the Melrose Park plant and J. G. Hammond general manufacturing manager.

REPUBLIC TO EXPAND

The Defense Plant corporation has authorized an increase of 23 million dollars in its contract with the Republic Steel corporation to provide for facilities at the corporation's huge electric furnace operation now under construction in the Chicago area. The increase will bring the over-all commitment with the steel corporation, which has its headquarters in Cleveland, to about 79¼ millions.

CIO and AFL Will Drive to Unionize River Barges

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 4 (AP).—A joint AFL-CIO membership campaign, said to be the first agreement of its kind, was announced today to unionize 2,000 employés of small barge lines on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. The AFL Masters', Mates', and Pilots' union will sign licensed personnel, and the CIO National Maritime union will solicit unskilled and semi-skilled boatmen. Organizers will carry both AFL and CIO applications.

FIGHT FOR BIDS ON RAIL BONDS CARRIED TO ICC

Middle West vs. East Issue Revived.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4 (AP).—A new battle between middle western banking houses and eastern financiers over competitive bidding for railroad financing was touched off today by a formal application from the Erie railroad for Interstate Commerce commission authority to issue 14 million dollars of bonds—already sold privately to Morgan Stanley & Co., New York, at 96 per cent of par.

In New York, the syndicate headed by Morgan Stanley announced public offering of the first consolidated mortgage 3½ per cent bonds of 1958 at 97½, subject to ICC authorization.

"Needless Delay and Risk."

In a telegram to J. Haden Alldredge, ICC chairman, Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland banker, and president of Otis & Co., charged the ICC not only had "closed its eyes" to the private sale, but was reported to have "informally encouraged" it.

In Cleveland, the Erie's president, Robert E. Woodruff, declared that competitive bidding "would have caused needless delay and risk."

Eaton said that he was sending copies of his telegram to the house and senate interstate commerce committees and also to the special committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, of which Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] is chairman.

The commission could, after hearings, disallow the private sale and order competitive bids for the issue if it found this advisable in the interests of the carrier and the investing public.

C. & O. Joins Opposition.

A group of middle western bankers long has fought against private sale of railroad securities which, they contended, freezes them out of the business and often results in lower prices for the carriers than would be received in competitive bids.

Opposition to the Erie transaction was voiced both by Otis and by Halsey, Stuart & Co., of Chicago and New York, and was supported by Carl E. Newton, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway which owns 43,000 shares of Erie common stock.

"For half a century," said Eaton, "the ICC has been handing down opinions and issuing statements condemning banker domination of the railroads and monopoly of railroad finance, but has done little or nothing to back its talk with action."

Taft Attacks Unbacked Note Issues by U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Accusing the treasury and the federal reserve board of resorting to "the most dangerous class of inflationary action" by issuing 660 million dollars in unsecured federal reserve bank notes, Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio] today introduced a bill for the repeal of authority to issue such notes.

Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft told the senate that these notes have been issued under emergency legislation adopted in 1933 which was intended to supply a liberal amount of currency in case of runs on banks when they reopened after the panic.

Emergency Never Ended.

"That was its only purpose," said Taft, "and it provides that no note shall be issued under it after the President has declared by proclamation that the emergency recognized by him by proclamation of March 6, 1933, has terminated. He's never declared it ended. I don't think he's ever declared any emergency ended.

The senator said that only 265 million dollars in these notes were issued in 1933, and all but 18 million of these have since been retired. When originally issued they were backed by government bonds or commercial paper, he said, as obligations of the federal reserve banks.

"Apparently some one in the treasury found in some back drawer 660 million dollars of these notes which had been printed and never used in 1933, and he got the bright idea that they might as well be issued now," Taft continued. "So a method was devised which is even more unsound than the original issue of the notes under emergency conditions.

"Same as Greenbacks."

"The net result of this transaction is that there are now outstanding 660 million federal reserve bank notes, against which there is no collateral, which are not liabilities of the federal reserve banks, but are liabilities of the government of the United States. The net legal effect is the same as if the United States had issued greenbacks.

"I might point out that if the treasury can do this at all, and issue notes which were printed 10 years ago, it can also go on printing these notes in unlimited quantity.

"It is difficult for me to see how any responsible official of the government can deliberately issue unsecured paper money and at the same time inveigh against the danger of inflation. The federal reserve bank notes should be immediately retired, and congress should repeal the act which authorizes their issuance."

METHOD OF TAX GATHERING, NOT RATE, IS ISSUE

All Must File Return by March 15.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Are you bewildered by the whirl of new tax proposals? If so, don't let it get you down. So many new tax ideas are being brought out that the experts are having a hard time keeping them straight.

Out of the confusion one solid fact emerges. Within the next 38 days 44 million individuals in the United States are obliged to prepare and file a federal income tax return and make a payment of at least 25 per cent of the tax owing to the government.

The house ways and means committee is considering various proposals for putting income tax collections on a current basis. But the adoption or rejection or any or all of the ideas now in the congressional hopper does not alter the obligation of the individual taxpayer to file a return and pay part of his tax March 15.

Raising Taxes Comes Later.

The committee is considering new methods of collection—not new taxes. Later members will get down to the job of raising new revenue of which the President has requested 16 billion dollars.

Extension of the withholding method of collection appears certain. This plan is embodied in the 5 per cent victory tax which is deducted at the source. The treasury has proposed a 19 per cent withholding tax by which it believes most taxpayers would be enabled to get on a current taxpaying basis—that is, paying taxes on their income the same year it is earned instead of the following year.

Still another proposal calls for a 10 per cent forced saving withholding plan. This is not a tax, but it would hit the taxpayer hard at a time when tax rates are the highest in history and still going up.

Would Take 35 Per Cent.

If both these plans were adopted, which is believed unlikely, and including present social security and victory taxes, a total of 35 per cent of an individual's earnings after certain allowances would be withheld at the source.

Collections at the source would take into account the dependency and marital status of an individual. The exemption probably would average about $12 a week.

Group Judgment is an Asset in Settling an Estate

EVENTS IN RECENT YEARS have not simplified the complicated tasks of an executor and trustee. An estate's cash needs, including taxes, now are apt to be greater than the cash funds immediately available — thus raising important investment and liquidation questions. The management and possible sale of a closely-held corporation require wide experience and broad business judgment to protect the estate's interests. New tax problems require expert knowledge that few individuals are likely to possess. Even routine steps in estate settlement are completed more efficiently by men accustomed to the work.

An individual, if chosen as executor, may not have the necessary experience or may be too occupied with war work or other affairs to undertake estate management obligations competently.

By naming The First National Bank of Chicago as executor of your will, you insure individual and group judgment—and experienced judgment—on the administration of your own estate affairs. Officers of the Trust Department of The First National Bank are always ready to help you and your lawyer plan your estate program so that your objectives can be achieved—effectively and economically.

JOHNS-MANVILLE SALES AT RECORD BUT PROFIT DIPS

Earnings for 1942 Equal $6.35 a Common Share.

Altho sales were the highest on record, net income of the Johns-Manville corporation, New York, building materials manufacturer, decreased slightly to $5,570,192 in the year ended Dec. 31, President Lewis H. Brown announced yesterday in the annual report. Earnings were equal to $6.35 a common share, after preferred dividend requirements, and compared with $5,967,145, or $6.66 a share, in 1941.

The company provided $16,817,244 for federal and Canadian income and excess profits taxes, after figuring a post-war refund of $1,188,236 on excess profit taxes, against $11,524,830 in 1941. Amounts set aside for contingencies arising from the war in the respective years were $2,460,000 and $1,459,889.

Sales Rise 16 Per Cent.

The sales total was $108,021,383, an increase of 16 per cent from $92,852,483 the preceding year.

"Since the company had been operating at rated capacity in most departments thruout 1941, the higher production for 1942 was accomplished almost wholly thru the greater efficiency, zeal, and effort of the entire organization," Brown said. Peak operation continues, he added, "with all interest centered upon war production."

General Candy corporation, Chicago, announced net income fell to $176,791, or $1.49 a common share, in the year ended Dec. 31, compared with $224,209, or $1.89 a share, in 1941.

Universal Pictures company reported net profit was $2,968,231 in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, compared with $2,673,249 the preceding year. Consolidated net income of its parent company, Universal corporation, was $2,806,952, or $5.34 on each voting trust certificate, compared with $2,341,202, or $4.45 per certificate, the preceding year.

REACTION CUTS EARLY ADVANCE OF HOG MARKET

Hog prices reacted late yesterday to cancel a large part of an early gain brought by a drastic reduction in the supply of hogs at all leading packing centers. Prices rose 25 cents a hundred pounds for a time, but when principal packers balked at increasing costs they said already were too high in relation to meat ceilings, gains were cut to 5 to 15 cents at the close. Cattle and lamb prices were strong.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—13.

Wide variation exists in the tax status of different types of pensions. Income from certain types of pensions, for example, is fully taxable, in other types only a portion of the income may be taxable for a time, and certain types are exempted completely by law.

Pensions paid to retired railroad employés under the railroad retirement acts of 1935 and 1937 are specifically exempted from all taxes. Old age pensions received under the social security act are similarly exempt.

War veterans of the United States are exempt from tax on a pension received as a result of services in time of war. If the veteran's family receives a pension because of his war service, it too, is exempt. Still another type of pension totally exempt from taxation is one received as a gift from some one for whom no services were performed, such as payments to teachers or their widows by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. This latter type of pension is a gift, and the beneficiary of a gift is not taxed.

Other types of pensions, generally, and annuities, represent taxable income. If a retired employé receives a pension from his former employer and if the employé had not made payments or contributions toward the pension, the entire amount of the pension income is subject to income tax. But where the employé contributed or paid in toward the pension, a portion of the pension income is considered a return of principal and therefore is not taxable.

The taxable portion of the annual pension received by a beneficiary who contributed to its cost is an amount equal to 3 per cent of his total contribution or payment. Suppose an individual had paid into a pension fund a total of $10,000 [the employer's cost is disregarded], and he now receives a pension of $800 a year. Only $300 [3 per cent of $10,000] of this $800 would be taxable. However, after the total amount received as tax free pension equals the total original cost, the entire annual pension thereafter is subject to income tax. In the foregoing example $500 of the pension is tax exempt. After 20 years the pensioner would have recovered his entire cost [20 tax free payments of $500 each, or $10,000], and from that time on the entire $800 annual pension would be taxable.

The same principles apply to an annuity and to an endowment life insurance policy that pays the beneficiary certain sums each month or year. Only an annual amount equal to 3 per cent of the original cost of the annuity or of the total premiums paid for the insurance policy is taxable until such time as the aggregate of nontaxable amounts received equals the original cost or premiums.

Regardless of the taxability of pension or annuity income, unless the person who receives it has a gross income [including the taxable income from the pension or annuity] of at least $500 if he is single, or $1,200 if married, he is not required to file an income tax return or pay any income tax.

REMEDY FOR DEPRESSION

Spending is not the remedy for depression, Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson, economist for the Chase National bank, New York, declared yesterday in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

"Spending is a good thing in a boom," he said, "but it is a bad thing in a depression. Spending is a good thing when it is financed out of current income, but it is a bad thing when it is financed out of capital. Spending is a good thing when it is financed out of savings, but it is a bad thing when it is financed out of bank credit."

Dr. Anderson said that the depression of 1929 to 1933 was caused by "a vast inflation of bank credit and a vast speculation in stocks and commodities" and that the depression was prolonged by "a vast spending program financed out of bank credit."

"The depression was prolonged by the fact that the spending program was financed out of bank credit," he said. "Bank credit is not capital. Bank credit is not savings. Bank credit is not current income. Bank credit is bank credit. Bank credit is a thing which is created out of nothing by the stroke of a pen. Bank credit is a thing which is destroyed by the stroke of a pen."

But Every One Must File Return by March 15.

19 per cent of earnings at the source is an alternative to the so-called Ruml pay-as-you-go plan. It is intended to accomplish the same result. Under this method the amount collected from the taxpayers would be sufficient to put most individuals on a current basis within a short period, treasury spokesmen declare. Under the treasury plan the withholding levy would start July 1 at the latest.

What Treasury Proposes.

On March 15, 1944, the taxpayer would file a return on his 1943 income as usual. If the amount already withheld exceeded the taxpayer's 1943 tax liability he would get a refund. If he still owed the government he would pay up the balance due. The big majority of taxpayers, treasury spokesmen assert, would find themselves about even. Persons in the higher income brackets would still owe substantial amounts because of the higher rates to which they are subject. Special provision would be made to enable them to pay up the excess over a longer period and ultimately get on a current basis.

Chairman Robert Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee submitted a refinement for this program. His idea calls for taxing 1942 income at the much lower rates that were in effect in 1941. This would hasten the time when all taxpayers would be on a current basis. Treasury spokesmen said the Doughton suggestion was being given "serious consideration."

Ruml Plan Less Complex.

Far less complex than the treasury proposals is the plan advanced by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Under his formula taxpayers would start this year paying taxes on their current income and 1942 would be forgotten. For most taxpayers there would be little practical difference in the immediate effect of the two plans.

To benefit from the Ruml scheme for skipping 1942 taxes the taxpayer would have to die or retire. In the event of his death his estate would owe no income tax beyond that earned in the year of his death. In the event of retirement the individual would pay no tax if his earnings ceased. If he received a pension he would be taxed only on the pension, not on the preceding year's earnings. The treasury is strongly opposed to the Ruml plan.

Chicago Department Store Sales Show Gain for Week

Chicago department store sales were up 3 per cent for the week, but down 4 per cent for the four weeks ended Jan. 30, compared with corresponding periods last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. In the entire seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district sales advanced 4 per cent for the week, but declined 1 per cent for the four weeks. Indianapolis led other cities in the district with an increase of 22 per cent for the week.

Radio Salesmen Attention

If merchandise shortages are taking away your means of making a living, and if you have successfully sold a high quality product, we can use your services in our war production plant as a materials expediter. Aside from its immediate rewards, this training in large-scale electronic instrument production will be invaluable to you after the war when you again may want to return to selling. In our own organization we will have approximately 30 openings for salesmen when the war ends, and the men who make good as expediters will be given preference.

The prime requirement for the job of expediter with this organization is a very high standard of salesmanship, for regardless of priority ratings, allocations, and various other controls, the securing of materials is today primarily a selling job. A pleasing but firm, convincing voice and a clean-cut appearance are essential.

The man we want must also have a very high degree of initiative—the ability to dig things out for himself without being told.

The electrical unit we build contains about 2,000 parts. Failure to receive just one part often brings our war production to a standstill. A good expediting job has been done only if 100% of the parts are on hand when production is scheduled to start—not 99%.

If you are game to tackle the job and have demonstrated your ability as salesman, you belong with us. Give full details wanted, and experience background.
